SINGLE COPIES......20Col. Williams Chosen
For ROA Presidency

New Orleans, La. (By telegraph to the Army and Navy Journal.—Col. L. Kemper Williams, Inf-Res., of New Orleans, was unanimously elected National President of the Reserve Officers' Association of the United States April 22 at the close of the three-day annual convention here.

Col. H. Harrison Smith, Inf-Res., a prominent attorney of Philadelphia, was unanimously elected senior vice-president, to succeed Col. Williams. Maj. H. K. Bentley, Fin-Res., an official of the Veterans' Bureau Hospital, Mt. Alto, Washington, D. C., was elected national treasurer, and Lt. Col. Edgar J. Roberson, Air-Res., of Detroit, Mich., was elected again as national secretary.

A selection of unusual interest was the election of Col. Paul V. McNutt, FA-Res., of Bloomington, Ind., former National Commander of the American Legion, as Judge Advocate. Col. McNutt is professor of Law at Indiana University.

Col. Cole Retires

Retirement of Col. Walter C. Cole, Air-Res., as National President of the ROA was forecast in the Army and Navy Journal of Feb. 21, as was the likelihood of Col. Williams' election. Col. Williams has long been active in reserve affairs. He is vice president of Williams, Inc., and maintains various business and civic interests in New Orleans.

Col. Williams was born in Patterson, La., Sept. 23, 1887, and attended Lawrenceville, N. J., Preparatory School, University of the South, at Swannee, Tenn. He was graduated from the 1915 Plattsburg Training Camp and the Command and General Staff School in 1928. He was commissioned a major of infantry reserve March 21, 1919; lieutenant colonel Nov. 24, 1923, and promoted to be colonel Dec. 5, 1930.

The association selected Pittsburgh as the next convention city following the spirited contest with Denver.

Gen. Bowley Greeted

Approximately two hundred and fifty delegates and guests were present. A feature of the convention was the presence of Maj. Gen. Albert J. Bowley, Assistant Chief of Staff, G-1, as

Urges Increased Pay

COL. WALTER C. COLE, Air-Res., retiring president of the Reserve Officers' Association of the United States, in addressing the convention of that organization this week in New Orleans, stated:

"The present rate of pay of the services makes it quite impossible for officers with families to take their traditional place in the society to which their positions entitle them and which is really necessary if the eminent principles and high quality of character of our military and naval personnel of the past are to be maintained in the future.

"It is believed that the very foundations of our National Defense System are being jeopardized by these conditions due to the fact that the personnel of the Services find the problems of living are necessarily taking precedence over the problems of national defense. This is resulting in a weakening of the high aims and ambitions and a wavering in that steadfast singleness of purpose which has heretofore distinguished the military forces of this great nation."

Eligibles for Naval Examination Named

SUPERVISORY examinations for 398 line and staff lieutenants of the Navy who become due for promotion under the new personnel law, will be held on various dates during the months of June and July.

Orders will be issued to 161 line officers during early June to take professional examinations sometime in the succeeding month. Those to be examined are Signal Numbers 1567 (Lt. H. G. Eberhart) to 1735 (Lt. L. M. Harvey), inclusive. Examinations for a few officers in this group have already been ordered, while the retirement of eight of them has been approved.

The officers who are to retire are Lts. Herbert E. Fish, James L. McKenna, William R. Spear, Aaron Eldridge, Matthias A. Thormahlen, Arthur A. Smith, Earle V. Hand and Edward L. Newell. The latter three come under the new law allowing non-graduate officers graded retirement. Four other lieutenants have applied for retirement under this law, none of them, however, in the group coming up for promotion this July. The four are: Lts. Donald B. McClary, Walter M. Shipley, William E. Phillips and Claude B. Arney.

The above signal numbers and those below are of the 1931 Navy Register which has just been issued.

One hundred and sixteen officers of the Supply Corps will be examined for promotion to lieutenant commanders on July 20, that date having been set by the Examining Board of the

Army Engineers Complete
Tasks; to Leave Nicaragua

THE field work of the Nicaraguan Canal Survey having been completed, the Secretary of War has directed Lt. Col. Dan I. Sultan, Corps of Engineers, Officer in Charge of the Survey, to return the troops under his command from Nicaragua to the United States and Panama. Fourteen officers and 131 enlisted men are affected by these instructions. The movement will be made to New York via the Panama Canal on the transport Chateau Thierry, leaving Corinto, Nicaragua, July 16, 1931.

Company A, 1st Engineers, will go to Ft. DuPont, Dela.

The 29th Engineer Battalion, less Companies B and C, which are now in the United States, will not be assigned to a permanent station until its arrival in this country.

Enlisted men of the 11th Engineer Regiment will be returned to that regiment in Panama.

The Signal Corps Detachment, which has been on duty with the Survey, will proceed to Ft. Monmouth, N. J.

The Medical Corps Detachment will be distributed among the 2nd, 7th, 8th and 9th Corps Areas and Carlisle Barracks, Pa.

The freight belonging to the Survey will be shipped from Corinto on the transport Kenowis in July.

Orders for the movement of 1st Lt. Harry L. Calvin, QMC, who has been in charge of the Quartermaster Corps work of the Survey, and 14 enlisted men of that corps, will be issued later.

2d Lt. William E. Potter will remain in Nicaragua for the present.

Col. Sultan has been authorized to return men with families on the transport Grant, which will leave Corinto July 29.

In regard to activities following the earthquake, Col. Sultan, in charge of the Army Engineers in Nicaragua, who has been engaged in relief work in

Generalcy to Retired
C. of S. Questioned

IN A DECISION issued yesterday, the Comptroller General of the United States rules that Gen. Charles P. Summerall, USA-ret., is entitled only to the retired pay of major general, and takes occasion to question in his decision the action of the War Department in retiring the former Chief of Staff with the rank of a general.

Presented with the matter of determining what rate of pay Gen. Summerall is entitled to, Comptroller J. R. McCarl declares "it was never the purpose or intent * * * that the Chief of Staff should be retired with the rank of general, and it was never intended that he should have other than retired pay of his rank in the Army as a major general, notwithstanding he had served four years as Chief of Staff."

"Major General Summerall is entitled to be paid three-fourths of the active list pay of a major general of the Army, or $6000 per annum," the Comptroller concludes after a lengthy discussion of various provisions of law.

Commenting on section 4c of the National Defense Act, providing for the retirement of chiefs of branches with rank, pay and allowances of the grade held while head of the branch, Mr. McCarl doubts the legal soundness of the holding of the Judge Advocate General that the Chief of Staff is in effect the chief of a branch, i.e., the General Staff, although he places

SAE Ordnance Committee
To Visit Mechanized Force

Ft. Eustis, Va.—The Ordnance Advisory Committee of the American Society of Automotive Engineers will open its semi-annual meeting at Ft. Eustis, Monday morning, April 27, where they will watch special demonstrations of the Mechanized Force. Following the meeting here Monday the committee will leave for Washington where the meetings will be resumed commencing Tuesday morning.

The personnel of the committee, which includes leaders in the automotive industry of the United States, will have an opportunity to view first hand the work and equipment of the Mechanized Force. The committee will arrive at Old Point Comfort early Monday morning and after breakfast at Ft. Monroe will start for Ft. Eustis. Near Langley Field they will be met by the Mechanized Force, which will enable them to view the various vehicles on the march. Upon arrival at Ft. Eustis, a special review of the Force will be held in their honor, which will be followed by demonstrations in cross country driving over soft and rough ground of tanks, armored cars, anti-aircraft mounts, wrecking vehicles, machine shop trucks, self-propelled field artillery, machine gun carriers, radio trucks, tanks, and armored cars, and cargo trucks of various types and capacities.

The executive session of the committee's meeting will be held in Washington, April 28. The agenda for this meeting will embrace varied problems of design and development for discussion and recommendation by the committee.

The Advisory Committee is composed of twelve of the most prominent American automotive engineers selected from the membership of the Society of Automotive Engineers by the Society officials. The committee has been functioning since 1919, has assisted the

Pay and Promotion
For Army Surveyed

WITH the War Department officially taking an active interest in pay and promotion improvement, a condition which can not be said to have been normal in the past, considerable speculation is being indulged in as to the probability of anything concrete developing in the next Congress.

If other conditions were normal, it is generally admitted that with the active support of the department and with the possibility of a generally unified sentiment among the personnel of the Army, enactment of both pay and promotion legislation would be assured. As it is, however, it is generally assumed that the War Department accelerated promotion plan, which will cost the government only about $1,500,000 additional, will become a law on July 1, 1932, unless opposition to its provisions springs up within the Army itself. Congress itself repeatedly has shown a willingness to pass any reasonable promotion measure which will meet with the approval of the service as a whole and which is supported by the War Department authorities.

Two related, though not entirely unsurmountable, barriers rise to block pay legislation: the business depression and the pre-election session of Congress. Both of these undoubtedly will work against pay relief.

Nevertheless, either of these barriers may prove to be somewhat of an aid (particularly when it is recalled that two previous pay bills were enacted in the midst of nation-wide depressions). It is generally admitted that business conditions are on the up-grade, that the depression has reached the low point and a recovery is being made. If this recovery is evidenced sufficiently in the Fall it will serve to strengthen the logic of the services' request that it be permitted to return to the standard of living set for it by Congress in the pay schedules of 1908. The fact that the sentiment back of pay revision is exceedingly strong throughout the country, with such influential organizations as the American Federation of Labor and the American Legion taking an active interest in it, may also have considerable weight in offsetting the economy phase of pre-election psychology.

At least it seems certain that Congress will not deny the service its "day in court" as far as pay is concerned. Both Chairman James, of the House Military Affairs Committee, and Chairman Britten, of the Naval Affairs Committee, announced their intentions at the close of the last session to take back into their committees this Fall the important matters which the Joint Pay Committee had juggled with for so long.

As far as the Departmental viewpoint on pay is concerned, certainly there has been no change in conditions or administration which would alter the opinion set forth by Secretary Hurley in his letter to Senator Reed last December wherein he stated, "The War Department is of the opinion"

Editors Unfavorable Toward the Change in Central American Policy

MUCH of the editorial comment on the change in policy recently announced by Secretary Stimson in regard to the rights of American citizens in Central America is distinctly unfavorable. There is some support of the administration in the matter, but there are more who believe that the rights of Americans should be fully protected in foreign countries.

"THE scrapping of the Coolidge policy towards Nicaragua calls forth the nearly unanimous disapproval of both Republicans and Democrats," states the New York Herald Tribune (Independent Republican). "Support for the new Stimson policy comes from only two sources—the handful of self-styled 'anti-imperialists' in this country and the bandits in Central America." "Mr. Stimson appears to be facing a hopeless task in trying to answer his critics. Thanks, however, to his own excellent volume of 1927, written on the basis of personal study in the field he can easily overwhelm his supporters."

"UNQUESTIONABLY Mr. Stimson is right when he declares that the duty of protecting citizens of the United States devolves primarily upon the Nicaraguans, but the fact remains that the Nicaraguans are incapable of fulfilling their duty," believes the Hartford, Conn., Courant (Republican). "In such circumstances the United States has not only the right but the duty to extend protection to its citizens. It can urge, even demand, that they remove themselves from perilous situations but in the last analysis it cannot withdraw protection entirely, unless it chooses to pursue a course stultifying and shameful."

"AMERICAN citizenship has been supposed to confer a certain added immunity deriving from the power and prestige of the United States," avers the Philadelphia Public Ledger (Independent Republican). "The American citizen, feeling that his Government would back him up, has been encouraged to establish himself in the farthest outposts of trade and business. . . . Mere expediency, political or otherwise, constitutes no valid ground for an impairment of American citizenship."

"The amazing ineptitude of the Stimson announcement might be exemplified in this Honduran situation. It is a standing invitation to such men as Sandino and Ferrera to help themselves to American property without fear of reprisals."

"THE American policy of 'getting out of Nicaragua' is now under test," says the Pittsburgh Post Gazette (Independent). "For years the sending of American Marines into the little country in the interest of order was condemned by a class of critics in Congress and out as meaning nothing but unwarranted interference with the affairs of a neighbor. Unjust and unreasoning as this was in many respects—in view of the manner in which the friendly offices of this country ended the recent civil war of the Nicaraguans and helped them to set up a government of their own choosing—the desire of the United States to withdraw its Marines has long been unmistakable."

"THE only sane American policy toward Nicaragua is to get out and stay out," claims the Louisville, Ky., Courier-Journal (Democratic). "The Coolidge policy should be junked. Citizens of the United States must be made to understand that if they leave their own country and go to some foreign land in quest of the dollar they cannot be furnished police protection by the United States."

"IT HAS BEEN suggested that the Monroe Doctrine lays a special obligation on our shoulders with respect to Caribbean countries," says the Baltimore Sun (Independent Democratic). "That suggestion has found favor with the Administrations of both parties in the past, but it has brought us nothing but troubles. The countries we have endeavored to police have experienced more continuous disturbance than any others in the whole of Latin America. The time has come for us to face the fact that we cannot follow a policy of intervention without coming dangerously close to annexation. And in facing this fact, it would be well to remember that European nations would be as reluctant to have us establish a protectorate over Caribbean countries as the more sensible elements of our own citizenship."

IN DEALING with the increasingly aggravating Nicaraguan situation . . . the Hoover Administration goes from bad to worse," observes the Washington Herald (Independent).

"For the last two years the Hoover Administration has failed to insist that the Nicaraguan Government keep its promises to the Coolidge Administration to organize a native National Guard of sufficient strength to provide protection for foreign life and property all over Nicaragua."

"All Americans remaining in Managua, the capital, or other inland towns are informed by President Hoover through the Department of State that they 'do so at their own risk.'"

"Contrast this pusillanimous announcement with the following statement made by President Coolidge in New York City four years ago this very month."

"Defending his program to bring order out of chaos in Nicaragua, President Coolidge said:

"The person and property of a citizen are a part of the general domain of the nation, even when abroad. . . . There is a distinct and binding obligation on the part of self-respecting governments to afford protection to the persons and property of their citizens wherever they may be. . . . These rights go with the citizen. Wherever he goes, these duties of our Government must follow him."

"The only effect of the Hoover Administration's refusal to protect American life and property in Nicaragua and of its failure to compel the Nicaraguan Government to provide such protection will be to encourage the extension of outlawry all over Nicaragua and to invite European intervention to protect the life and property of their own nationals."

"IT IS POSSIBLE that the Government of Nicaragua will be able to deal effectively with the situation, aided as it still is by the forces of the United States," states the Washington, D. C., Star (Independent). "The conclusion is inescapable, however, that the country will have to keep its shoulder to the wheel until affairs in the Central American country have become more quiet. The United States cannot, for the sake of the Nicaraguans whom it has sought to aid, withdraw and leave the country in a state of chaos and strife. Nor can it avoid the duty of protecting American citizens and the citizens of other foreign nations within Nicaragua. The slaughter of American civilians in cold blood, as reported in dispatches from Central America, is not likely to be condoned by the American people."

"IT IS ONE thing to intervene when a government is unable to protect foreigners, and another to override a government that is performing its functions," holds the Washington, D. C., Post (Independent). "Nicaragua is not now in a state of war and chaos, as it was when President Coolidge discharged the duty of the United States to protect foreign life and property pending the establishment of a stable government. Nicaragua has a government, and it is substantially protecting foreign life and property. Raids by bandits in remote places, even if marked by the murder of a few foreigners, do not indicate a situation that requires intervention."

"When Democratic and Progressive Senators hail Secretary Stimson's order as proof that the Hoover Administration has reversed the Coolidge policy in Nicaragua and is now intent upon 'scuttling' leaving Americans and all other foreigners without protection, they deceive themselves. The Coolidge policy is the Hoover policy. If the disturbances in Nicaragua should paralyze the native government and imperil foreign life and property throughout the country, the United States would again intervene. But it will not occupy Nicaragua while a government is functioning there."

"THE administration need not and will not be frightened by jingo or imperialistic attacks," states the Springfield, Mass., Republican (Republican). "There are long established and well-defined obligations resting on a government to care for its citizens abroad and this administration will be alive to them. Yet the theory that an American citizen, wherever he may happen to be on the earth, is part of our national domain, to be defended as such by force, is extreme and untenable. In virtually repudiating a policy of aggression, belligerency and empire, the administration follows a course conservative in law and consistent with our declared policy of non-aggression in Latin-America."

Ft. Benning Maneuvers

Ft. Benning, Ga.—Divisional maneuvers and command post exercises featured this week's phase of the Fourth Corps Area maneuvers here. Next week, April 27 to May 1, the students of the Infantry School will take over command and control of the troops and a continuous two-sided brigade maneuver will be conducted by the commanding general, Infantry School.

Many visitors from the Army, Navy and Marine Corps, as well as foreign military attaches, are here this week witnessing the mimic warfare. Brig. Gen. Edward L. King, assistant chief of Staff, G-3, came down from Washington, arriving in Columbus Sunday evening. He was the guest of Maj. Gen. Frank R. McCoy, commanding general of the Fourth Corps Area, at Camp Leonard Wood.

Nine officers detailed as participants and observers in the maneuvers also arrived at Camp Leonard Wood. They are: Col. Fitzhugh Lee, Cav.; Lt. Col. R. John West, Inf.; Maj. Leon E. Lyon, CE; Maj. Victor Parks, jr., CWS; Maj. Wilson McK. Spann, Inf.; Maj. Roland L. Gaugler, OD; Maj. John W. Meehan, MC; Maj. Harry J. Maloney (FA), GSC, and Capt. George L. Townsend, SC, all of the Fourth Corps Area.

The Marine and Naval visitors who flew to Benning from the Marine Base at Quantico, Va., included: Maj. C. F. B. Price, Maj. R. H. Davis, Maj. H. H. Upley, Maj. H. L. Parsons, Maj. C. D. Barrett, Maj. L. L. Leach, Maj. T. E. Thrasher, Maj. L. B. Stephenson, Maj. T. A. del Balre, Maj. L. H. Miller, Capt. F. P. Mulcahy, Capt. R. H. Jeschke, Capt. J. T. Moore, Capt. H. C. Major, Capt. A. H. Noble, Capt. T. T. Cheatham, Capt. T. E. Bourke, Capt. A. B. Hale, Capt. L. R. Jones, Capt. D. E. Campbell, Capt. R. E. West, Capt. J. L. Perkins, Capt. S. A. Wood, Capt. J. M. Bain, and Capt. R. Winans, of the Marine Corps, and Lt. Comdr. C. T. Hull and Lt. W. C. Ansel, of the

Ft. Snelling Dial System

A NEW type telephone switchboard was installed at Ft. Snelling April 11, under the direction of Mr. Charles Robinson, corps area signal engineer, of Omaha. The new board permits the use of the dial type of telephone, which has been installed throughout the post.

Navy. Maj. George S. Clarke, Inf., an Army officer who is attending the Marine Corps School at Quantico as a student, accompanied the Marines down to Benning.

The foreign military attaches arrived Sunday evening and witnessed the Monday and Tuesday maneuvers. The party included Col. Shorie Washizu, Japanese Army; Col. Francisco Aguitar, Mexican Army; Col. Marco Pennaroli, Italian Army; Lt. Col. Ricardo Miro, Argentine Army; Maj. Joaquin Plannell, Spanish Army, and Col. Maurice F. Day, British Army.

Three Officers Injured

Slight injuries were suffered by three officers on April 20 when they were burned by an artillery piece which fired a blank round while they were standing close to it. They are Col. Fitzhugh Lee, Cav., Atlanta recruiting officer; Lt. L. S. Young, commanding Battery D, 16th Field Artillery, Ft. Bragg, and Lt. Joseph C. Kovarik, assigned as public relations officer at Ft. Benning.

Col. Lee and Lt. Kovarik suffered powder burns about the face and hands, while Lt. Young received abrasions on one of his hands. They were given anti-tetanus treatment at the post hospital.

According to reports the three officers were standing near the field piece observing the maneuvers, when Lt. Young gave the order to cease firing. Apparently the order was misunderstood for another shot was fired, burning the officers.

Pay and Promotion

on that early solution of the pay question is of vital importance to the welfare and efficiency of the Military establishment. Indeed it is believed that this is the most important and fundamental matter now requiring solution in the proper development of national defense."

At the present time, however, within the service itself talk centers around the provisions of the War Department promotion bill, sponsored by Gen. Douglas MacArthur. While approval for it is widespread, there is a disposition in some quarters to criticize it on the basis that after the first bulk of promotions under its provisions "what then?" The refutation given to that is that after the initial promotion, with gains varying from two to eight years being meted out, the flow of promotion will be smooth and regular. One interested statistician figures that there are only approximately 22 per cent of the field grade officers unstarred and roughly 36 per cent of the captains unstarred, and reasons that with vacancies being created by the passing from the active promotion list of starred officers and with unstarred officers being carried along by their next junior starred officers, the flow of promotion will be reasonably increased.

More official statisticians previously had forecast that under the bill, during its first ten years of operation, starred lieutenant colonels will be going into the grade of colonel at the average ages of 51 to 52 years, carrying with them, of course, their older unstarred "running mates." It has been further computed that starred majors should enter the grade of lieutenant colonel during that same period of years at the average age of 45 to 46 years, carrying with them their senior unstarred fellows. Captains, whose ages permit them to be starred, will, it is estimated, make their majorities

Arrest Alleged Imposter

Finger prints have established the identity of a prisoner who is said to be the imposter who has used the name of 1st Sgt. William R. Dawson, 86th Pursuit Squadron, AC, and Capt. William F. Riter, QMC, and who was recently discovered and taken into custody by recruiting officer, Capt. C. C. Chandler, in Birmingham, Ala.

The individual in question is alleged to have passed worthless checks in Augusta and Atlanta, Ga., when wearing uniform, and passing as Capt. William F. Riter, of the Quartermaster Corps. His description broadcast over the country by Headquarters Fourth Corps Area resulted in the arrest in Birmingham.

Finger prints sent to the War Department brought forth the information that they were identical with those of Bert Gleason, alias David Gleason, three times dishonorably discharged. He was last discharged as David Gleason and released from confinement in 1924 at Governors Island, New York.

The Department of Justice expressed the desire for custody of the prisoner and Capt. Chandler, at Birmingham, has been advised accordingly.

at the average ages of 41 and 42 years, bringing with them their unstarred companions.

A speculation that merits consideration is that with the passage of the bill and the return of some degree of prosperity there will likely be a large number of officers passing to the voluntary retired list, thereby creating additional vacancies. These retirements have declined of late and this is attributed partly to the slump in business conditions and partly to a possible feeling on the part of some who want to retire that they may stay in and retire next year with a higher rank.

Domestic Purchases

A RULING upon the provisions in the Army and Navy appropriations acts to the effect that domestic articles only may be bought, has been made by the Comptroller General.

In the supply acts for the two services there were identical provisions that the Secretary of the Department "unless in his discretion the interest of the Government will not permit, purchase or contract for, within the limits of the United States, only articles of the growth, production, or manufacture of the United States, notwithstanding that such articles of the growth, production, or manufacture of the United States may cost more, if such excess of cost be not unreasonable."

These provisions are applicable only to direct purchases, it is held. Contracts for the construction of buildings, or the manufacture of an article, do not come within the law, and contractors need not use domestic products only.

The phrase "within the limits of the United States" used in these provisions of law is construed to include the United States proper, Alaska and Hawaii, but not the Philippine Islands, Guam, Porto Rico, or the Canal Zone.

In the furnishing of armor, gun forgings, and projectiles, there appears to be no requirement that the raw materials of component parts be of domestic origin, it is ruled, and if the steel and finished product are manufactured in the United States, it is not necessary that the alloys used be produced in this country.

"In connection with the matter of procuring mechanical equipment, the rule would appear to be the same whether the installation is by a Government force under the contractor's supervision or by the contractor under the Government's supervision," the G. A. O. decides. "In either case, if there is involved the procurement of articles of mechanical equipment by contract or direct purchase as distinguished from mechanical equipment incident to or to be used in the construction of a building or other structure, the law here in question requires that the article be of domestic origin or production if, within the discretion of the Secretary of the Navy, the public interest permits and if found administratively necessary for the purpose, and a proper showing should be required in the bids so that a proper determination may be made in accordance with the preferential law."

Following the decision, a circular letter (No. 17) was issued by the War Department, giving the rulings contained therein and changes to be made in standard contract forms. Provision was made for the submission of doubtful cases to be the Assistant Secretary of War for decision.

Army Engineers to Return

Managua since the afternoon of March 31, the day of the earthquake, has reported in various telegrams as follows:

"Zone of surface cracks passed through points three blocks west of extreme western points of burnt area and through the northwest corner of penitentiary building which was very completely destroyed. Cracks indicate that fault line runs northeast to southwest. Each individual crack has direction north to south. Building construction in Managua was extremely poor. No completed steel buildings in city. About twelve reinforced structures in city. As far as can be determined, the concrete had extremely large loam content. Reinforcement limited and poorly spaced. Unable to exactly determine sewer damage but main lines seem to be in good shape. Water supply of Managua formerly came from Lake Asosca but rim of this deep crater lake is shattered and pumping plant buried under slides. Reasonable precaution would have prevented this by construction of retaining wall. No damage to reinforced concrete waterworks reservoir. Pipe line damage appears to be limited. Most house connections were broken. Small amount of water being pumped into mains by auxiliary pumping plant on Lake Managua. Damage to Diesel pumps at pumping plant buried under slides is unknown. Engineers are attempting to salvage pumping plant and reestablish a new intake on Lake Managua."

"Returned to Granada April 16 and will hereafter spend most of time here going to Managua for few hours once or twice a week when necessary. Relief work in Managua now well organized, families needing help have been registered, card system put into effect and uncooked food is being issued daily by Red Cross to some eighteen thousand people. Many people are returning to their homes and repairing them. Small shocks continue almost daily. Streets are being cleaned by labor paid by Red Cross. Water situation solved by pumping directly into mains from old plant on Lake Managua and by auxiliary pump on same lake. City now has adequate supply of potable water. Asosca plant which is the normal source of supply will not be in operation for several days. Repairs to water mains proceeding satisfactorily. All water supply activities supervised by Lt. Groves, Corps of Engineers. Railroad now operating normally. Granada has some seven thousand refugees. Engineers have been cooperating with local authorities and rendering such assistance as is needed. Maj. Hawley with Army doctors have taken over the hospital in Granada with thirty-seven earthquake injury cases from Managua and are operating it. Full report of Army activities in connection with relief will be forwarded in few days."

Since the afternoon of the earthquake, personnel of the Army Engineers has been engaged in demolition work to prevent spread of fire and other relief work in the city proper, and in salvaging of water supply plant and provision of temporary water supply.

C. of S. Retirement

the decision put to him—the amount of Gen. Summerall's pay—upon other grounds.

"The Chief of Staff is, in effect, the head of the Army under the Secretary of War, and is not a chief of a branch of the Army," he avers. "It is not believed that the Chief of Staff properly may be considered a chief of a branch within the meaning of the provision for chiefs of branches after service of four years as such, respecting whom it is provided that when retired, they shall be retired with the rank, pay, and allowances authorized by law for the grade held by them as such chief of branch."

"However, it is not necessary to determine this point to reach a conclusion upon the question you have presented and the foregoing is designed merely to call attention to the doubt arising as to the legality of the action of the War Department, as reported by you, in retiring Gen. Summerall with the rank of general under that provision."

The basis for holding that Gen. Summerall is entitled to the pay of retired major general and not that of a general is the Act of Feb. 23, 1929, the Comptroller states. The law provides

"That hereafter the Chief of Staff of the Army, while holding office as such, shall have the rank and title of general, and shall receive the pay and allowances of a major general, and in addition thereto, the personal money allowance prescribed by law for the officer of the Navy serving as Chief of Naval Operations. The Chief of Staff of the Army and the Chief of Naval Operations shall take rank between themselves according to dates of appointment as such and shall both take rank above all other officers on the active list of the Army and Navy: Provided, That nothing in this Act shall have the effect of changing the relative rank of the present Chief of Staff and the present Chief of Naval Operations."

"It is under this statute that the rank and title of general is conferred upon the Chief of Staff while holding office as such," the decision states. "This statute does not create the office of general, or of General of the Army. It merely confers upon the Chief of Staff, while holding office as such, ex officio the rank and title of general. The act specifically fixes his pay and allowances as that of a major general, with the additional money allowance provided by Section 8 of the Pay Readjustment Act of June 10, 1922, 42 Stat. 629, for the officer of the Navy serving as Chief of Naval Operations. Officers, on retirement, are entitled only to the pay of the rank of which retired and whether Gen. Summerall has the permanent rank of general or of major general, the pay fixed for him while serving as Chief of Staff and entitled ex officio to the rank and title of general was the pay of major general."

In substantiation of this holding, the Comptroller goes back into the report of the War Department on the foregoing act, when it was before Congress, and the statements on the floor of the House and Senate when the bill was voted on.

"It thus appears that the War Department, in recommending the legislation, which so far as here material was enacted substantially in the language submitted by the War Department, stated that it was to provide temporary rank and confer 'no permanent rank or right to retirement and no increase of pay,' he concludes. Both branches of the Congress so understood the bill and considered and acted on it as a matter of small importance and merely one of precedence between the highest ranking officers of the Army and the Navy. * * *

"Certainly, with this legislative history of the bill which became the act under consideration, together with its plain language to accomplish the avowed purpose, there must be such clear and definite language and intent expressed in prior statutes as to leave inescapable the conclusion that Congress had intended to provide that any officer who might at any time in the future temporarily or ex officio have the rank and title of 'general,' should have honor and reward which was conferred by these prior statutes specifically and by separate enactments, and almost by name, on the three outstanding Union commanders in the Civil War and the Commander-in-Chief of

The Journal Salutes

THIS week the Army and Navy Journal salutes:

Lt. Col. Cortlandt Parker, USA, who has been assigned to duty as United States Military Attache at London.

Capt. Julius C. Townsend, USN, Captain of the Navy Yard, Philadelphia, who has been assigned to command the USS Texas, flagship of the Commander-in-Chief, United States Fleet.

Col. L. Kemper Williams, Inf. Res., for his election to the National Presidency of the Reserve Officer Association of America.

Financial Digest

THE largest part of the ground gained from the heavy liquidation period of last year has been lost, largely because there has been no visible improvement in business and also because the effects of the depression are now acutely revealed in the shape of dividend reductions and suspensions, according to information in recent morning stock letters from E. A. Pierce and Co.

In two sections of the industrial list earnings are supposed to be holding up relatively well. These sections are food products and tobaccos. Sentiment in automobile circles appears to be improved and advices from Detroit are to the effect that the stronger motor shares now invite excellent appreciation possibilities for the longer term.

It is known that the market is confronted with a series of unsatisfactory first quarter earnings statements, together with the possibility of further dividend adjustments. In the face of all these factors the undertone has remained relatively firm.

the American Forces in France during the World War. There is no ambiguity. It was never the purpose or intent either by the language used or with reference to other statutes, whether or not repealed, that the Chief of Staff should be retired with the rank of general, and it was never intended that he should have other than the retired pay of his rank in the Army as a major general, notwithstanding he had served four years as Chief of Staff, that is, it was intended to place him on exact equality with the Chief of Naval Operations not to confer on him the permanent rank of general on the retired list. Maj. Gen. Summerall is entitled to be paid three-fourths of the active list pay of a major general of the Army, or $6,000 per annum."

Express Appreciation

IN appreciation of the cooperation and many courtesies extended to The Quartermaster Corps School by business and professional men in Philadelphia, a buffet luncheon was served in Butt Hall, Schuykill Arsenal, on April 17, at which 140 attended. Among those present were Maj. Gen. John L. DeWitt, The Quartermaster General; Col. Walter C. Jones, QMC of Washington, D. C., and representatives of the following establishments:

American Railroad Association, Armour and Company, Atlantic Refining Company, Autocar Company, Baldwin Locomotive Works, Bellevue-Stratford Hotel, Butcher & Sherrerd, Charles A. Devlin & Co., Inc., Curtis Publishing Company, Disston, Henry & Sons, Edmonds, Obermayer & Rebmann, Freighofer Baking Company, Gimbel Brothers, Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company, Houghton, E. F. & Co., Lowry, Alfred & Bros., Luckenbach Steamship Company, Mitten Management, Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company, Pennsylvania Laundry Company, Pennsylvania Railroad, Philadelphia Federal Reserve Bank, Philadelphia National Bank, Philadelphia Tidewater Terminals, Proctor & Schwartz, Prudential Insurance Co. of America, Railway Express Agency, Sears, Roebuck & Company, Strawbridge & Clothier, Wanamaker, John, Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Co.

City of Philadelphia—Automotive Trade Association, Chamber of Commerce, Commercial Museum, Department of Public Works, Port of Philadelphia.

Educational Institutions—University of Pennsylvania, Yale University.

Federal Government—Frankford Arsenal, Marine Corps Supply Depot, Philadelphia Quartermaster Depot, United States Navy Yard.

Gen. DeWitt expressed his appreciation of the service rendered by these institutions in Philadelphia which, through lectures and actual visits to industrial concerns, he considers invaluable in the training of officers detailed as students. Gen. DeWitt stated that the contacts so created tend to develop a better understanding between the officers of the supply services and the nation's business men.

It is with deep regret that we announce the death of Mr. Edward T. McEnany.

While for the past two and one half years Mr. McEnany has not been active in the firm that bears his name, he still maintained desk space and up to the last few weeks enjoyed coming in to keep up the many friendships that he made throughout the long years he was associated with the Officers of the U. S. Army.

The same high standard that he set has been carried on and will continue to be, and as he endeared himself to his patrons we, too, hope to hold their good will.

The Signal Corps Band

THE Signal Corps Band, Ft. Monmouth, N. J., the first band in the United States Signal Corps, was originally the Band of the Thirteenth United States Cavalry and was organized with that regiment at Ft. Meade, S. D., in 1901. The portion of the history of this band which deals with the Villa incident reveals the readiness of band men to participate in armed conflict.

The first leader of the band was Mr. Ferdinand Angelsburg, who continued in that capacity until 1912. He also served with the regiment in the Philippines when they were ordered there in the Fall of 1901. Upon returning to the United States after the tour of duty in foreign service, their time was divided between the Mexican border and Ft. Riley, Kans. The latter post and the surrounding towns always referred to them as their own outfit.

In 1914, the Mexican bandit, Pancho Villa, started marauding up and down the border, being particularly active in the Big Bend district. The regiment was at that time in Kansas, but was immediately returned to border service and, after being moved from one camp to another, the band always with the regimental headquarters, they finally landed in Columbus, New Mexico, a small town of some 1,200 inhabitants. Everything was quiet and serene there, the regiment doing guard duty and the band playing their nightly concerts until 1916, when Pancho Villa suddenly attacked the town and garrison. Although greatly outnumbered they drove the attackers across the border with great losses. The regiment's losses were about nine men killed, three of them being members of the band, which was at that time under the leadership of Mr. Oscar Luedtke. He took active command of the band and though they were armed only with the pistol they fought and shot their way through the Mexicans and joined the rest of the regiment. Mr. Luedtke later received honorable mention for his part in the affray.

From Texas the regiment again returned to Ft. Riley, Kans., only to be returned to the border. After having been stationed in a number of other places along the border they finally took up permanent station in Ft. Clark, Texas, the band still with regimental headquarters.

In 1921 the Fifteenth Cavalry having been rendered inactive, the Thirteenth Cavalry was ordered to Ft. D. A. Russell, Wyoming, where the personnel of the two regiments was amalgamated and both bands combined under the leadership of Mr. Luedtke. The band was very popular and while stationed there played all over the states of Wyoming and Colorado.

Mr. Tito Lipartiti succeeded Mr. Luedtke as band leader and upon his departure for Washington, D. C., where he was ordered to attend the Army Music School, was in turn succeeded by Mr. Wheeler W. Sidwell, the present leader.

In June, 1927, the regiment was once more ordered to Ft. Riley, Kans. The movement was made by an overland hike of 710 miles. The band made the hike with the regiment and, besides taking care of their horses and doing everything that the troopers had to do, still had enough energy left to play concerts in the evening. The regiment, at this time, is still at Ft. Riley, Kans.; with the exception of the band, which, by War Department Orders was transferred to Ft. Monmouth, N. J., in November, 1930, and designated as the Signal Corps Band.

Award of Soldiers' Medal

Ft. Snelling, Minn.—At a parade of the entire garrison of Ft. Snelling, and before an audience of more than 2,000 civilians from Minneapolis and St. Paul, Capt. Thomas A. Dukes, 3d Inf., was decorated with the Soldiers' Medal by Col. David L. Stone, post commander, Friday, April 17.

The medal was awarded to Capt. Dukes for heroism in saving Pvt. James U. Fairbanks, Hqr. Co., 31st Inf., from drowning in the Porac River at Pio, Philippine Islands, on January 14, 1927. The citation states that Pvt. Fairbanks entered the river to bathe although unable to swim and stepped from a sudden drop caused by a ledge of rock.

Cavalry Division Maneuvers

Ft. Bliss, Tex.—Scouting airplanes flying over the high and rugged Sacramento Mountains of southern New Mexico, will maintain continuous radio-telephone communication with commanders on the ground, when the 1st Cavalry Division, with headquarters at Ft. Bliss, goes to "War", May 19.

Commanded by Maj. Gen. Ewing E. Booth, troops of the division will maneuver for two weeks over an area which rises from a desert of sand and mesquite, to a mountain range of 10,000 feet where "going" for wheeled vehicles will be impossible, and supplies will be taken in by pack mule trains.

How an airplane pilot flying 80 miles away talked over the radio telephone to Signal Corps officers at Ft. Bliss, was described this week as the signal services attached to the 1st Cavalry Division were making final tests of field equipment in preparation for what is believed will be the most grueling maneuver any Cavalry division has ever attempted in peace time.

Another experimental communication set devised by the 1st Signal Troop of the 1st Cavalry Division to be tested in the two weeks of day and night mountain and desert maneuvers, is a radio receiver carried by the horsemen which, when perfected, will keep moving columns of Cavalry in continual voice contact with the scouting airplanes.

The practicability of airplane radio telephones has been repeatedly demonstrated in experiments by the 1st Signal Troop. During Winter drills a division radio set located at Ft. Bliss, was in constant contact by voice and code with airplanes flying over Las Cruces and Alamogordo, N. M., and Sierra Blanca, Tex., during the flights made over a period of three days with a radius of operations of approximately 75 miles for voice and 120 miles for code.

Two way code contact was maintained over a distance of more than 220 miles between an airplane and Ft. Bliss in a recent test, it was announced.

Thus in the May maneuvers of the 1st Cavalry Division for the first time in history will the two arms which operate as the eyes and ears of the Army, that is, Cavalry and Air Corps, be in constant communication with each other by voice, due to the utilization by the Cavalry of those modern devices which play such a prominent part in warfare.

Rifle Teams Plans Progress

LOOKING forward to the National Matches to be held at Camp Perry the latter part of August, 26 Infantry rifle teams are at Ft. Benning undergoing preliminary training. These men, who are under the direction of Maj. Courtney Hodges, Infantry Team Captain, are prospective new members of the 1931 team.

Motor Kitchen for Tanks

THE Quartermaster General of the Army, Maj. Gen. John L. DeWitt, has proposed to Maj. Gen. Stephen O. Fuqua, the Chief of Infantry, the initiating of a development project on a motorized kitchen to be used by Infantry tank units. The vehicle recommended by The Quartermaster General will be a 2-ton, dual-tired truck chassis, 4-wheel drive, capable of a speed of thirty miles an hour and equipped with air brakes.

The body will be of special design and will include drop sides and rear, permanent top, roll storm curtains, and an awning to be let down at an angle from the top when the kitchen is in camp.

An ice-box with a capacity of 100 pounds and a water tank with a gravity flow and a capacity of sixty gallons are proposed.

The stove will be equipped with a gasoline burner, and provisions made for the burning of wood in the event of damage to the gasoline burner or the lack of a supply of fuel. The gasoline burner can be removed and the stove converted into a wood burner in ten minutes. The stove will be so mounted that the cooks can move around it on all sides.

The body of the truck will be approximately 94 inches wide and 120 inches long, giving a floor space of about 80 square feet.

Electric lights for the kitchen will be supplied by the regular lighting system of the truck.

The adoption of a kitchen similar to the above will greatly facilitate transportation and will be welcomed by the Infantry as a progressive step in its constant endeavor to supply more comforts for the soldier.

Gen. Fuqua has forwarded The Quartermaster General's specifications to the Tank Board at Ft. George G. Meade, Md., for its recommendations.

Col. Graves Elected

COL. ERNEST GRAVES, of the Inter-oceanic Canal Board, is by vote of the other members of the board, to be Chairman until the next meeting, when presumably a permanent chairman will be elected.

Col. Graves, after the 1927 flood in the Mississippi Valley, was the one man most closely associated with Gen. Jadwin in formulating the plan for flood control that is now in effect on in the office of the Chief of Engineers the Mississippi River. Col. Graves was studying the question of a Nicaraguan Canal when the law was passed authorizing the survey now being made. He was appointed by the President as an original member of the Inter-oceanic Canal Board and now he succeeds the late Gen. Jadwin as Chairman of that Board.

Mechanized Force Notes

Ft. Eustis, Va.—The performance of the six-wheel Chevrolet machine gun carriers used by the Mechanized Force will be watched at Ft. Eustis this morning, April 25, by officials of the Chevrolet Company when the machine gun company, commanded by Capt. Charles C. Morgan, will put on a series of tests in cross-country driving. Representatives from the engineering division of the factory at Detroit, Mich., from the assembly plant at Buffalo, N. Y., and Maj. A. L. Bell, Inf-Res., who is district manager at Richmond, Va., will attend the demonstrations.

The machine gun carriers are six-wheel standard Chevrolet commercial trucks. About a month ago representatives from the Buffalo assembly plant viewed a demonstration at this post and took moving pictures of the trucks and they were so impressed with the high standard of excellence shown in the cross-country driving over soft and rough ground that they recommended that the engineering section from the factory should see the capabilities of the vehicles. Arrangements have been made for this demonstration to be held today.

The tests previously given these vehicles over the terrain at Ft. Eustis were far more severe than anything given on the proving grounds of the General Motors Company, according to the company's representatives.

A detachment of various types of vehicles from the Mechanized Force will leave this post April 30 for Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md., to participate in a special demonstration for the 1st class of West Point cadets, to be held at that place May 4. The detachment will march from here to Ft. George G. Meade, Md., the first day, stop at Ft. Meade the night of April 30, and go to Aberdeen the following day. On the return march, which will start on May 5 the first night stop will also be made at Ft. Meade.

The detachment will be in command of Capt. David G. Barr, Inf. (Tanks), with 1st Lt. Joseph Holley, Inf. (Tanks), second in command. The vehicles to be sent will include one self-propelled 75-mm. pack howitzer, one self-propelled American 75-mm. gun, Model 1916, one T1E2 tank with radio equipment, one T1E3 fighting tank, which is the latest model tank produced by the Ordnance Department, one Caliber .50 anti-aircraft mount (White) T2, one Caliber .50 anti-aircraft mount (White) T4, one medium four-wheel drive Franklin armored car, one light armored car, one cross-country passenger car, and four tank carriers.

NAVY PLEBE TRACKMEN SCORE

The young middies defeated the William and Mary freshmen in their first meet of the season at Annapolis last Saturday, scoring 66 points to their opponents' 51. Waybright, Navy, established a new plebe mark in the 100-yd. dash, lowering the old mark of 10.2 seconds to 10 seconds flat.

The plebes captured 11 first places out of the 13, one by default. Waybright also won the 220-yd. dash, making two first places for him for the day.

NAVY PLEBE NINE LOSES

The Naval Academy plebes lost to Mercersburg Academy in the opening game at Annapolis last Saturday, 8-7. The ninth opened with Navy in the lead, 7-6, but singles by two of the visitors, and errors by Collins and Daunis yielded two runs. In their half of the inning, Navy got a man to third, but could not get him home.

the largest ever assembled and is the result of the policy of the War Department to keep abreast of the mechanical age in the interests of national defense.

To exploit to the fullest extent possible the mechanical and scientific field of the nation in the interests of national security, the Force at this post has been set up as a new tactical unit in the Army, and as a field laboratory for the testing out and developing of mechanical and motorized devices and vehicles, such as armored cars, fast tanks, artillery on self-propelled mounts, anti-aircraft artillery, machine guns, gas weapons, engineering appliances, Infantry carrying trucks, and all other motorized machinery suitable for its use, and for formulating the tactics and strategy of such a Force. The Force will be progressively supplied with new designs in motor and mechanical vehicles, as they are developed.

SERVICE SPORT NEWS

SERVICE SPORTS SUMMARY

Quantico, Va.—Villanova handed the All-Marine baseball team its initial defeat of the season here last Saturday, 8-6. Smith, starting for the Devil Dogs, was hit hard in the first, and yanked. Couch, who relieved him, held off the collegians for five innings, but for the next three innings they hit freely while blanking the Marines.

Ft. Bliss, Tex.—Troopers of the 8th Cavalry will hold a regimental track meet here this afternoon. This will be the first track meet of the season for the 8th Cavalry. It is sponsored by the 8th Cavalry Athletic Association, of which Sgt. Maj. Daniel Hearn is president and Sgt. Sylvester A. Merritt, Hq. Troop, is secretary-treasurer. The program for the meet includes 50, 100 and 220 yard dashes, standing and running broad jumps and shot put. Cash prizes go to the winners of first and second places while those placing third will be awarded cigarettes.

The 8th Cavalry baseball team romped on the New Mexico Agricultural and Mechanical College nine at Las Cruces to the tune of 20 to 2. The soldiers knocked out 18 base blows.

Troop B and Hq. Troop are tied for the lead in the Regimental League, each having won four games and lost one.

Ft. Snelling, Minn.—A post baseball team to represent Ft. Snelling in a six game series with Ft. Lincoln, N. D., will be organized in June with Ch. Gynther Storaasli as coach. Members of the team will be selected from company teams as soon as the league season has progressed sufficiently for the better players to be determined. The Ft. Lincoln series will consist of three games played at that station on July 3, 4, and 5, and a return engagement in August. Games with other Forts in the Northwest may be arranged later if funds are available.

Ft. Benning, Ga.—The Doughboys lost to the Mercer Bears here on Gowdy Field, April 16, 12 to 8. The Benning players could not score until the fifth when they unlimbered some guns and blasted out four runs. This they added to in the following frame, scoring three times. Their totals were eight hits and eight runs, while the Mercer Bears were garnering 15 hits and 12 runs. In the fifth, the Bears attacked Holloway and drove him to the showers, five runs coming over the platter in this period, and as they had scored two runs in each of the previous innings save the fourth—the lull before the storm—this spurge about finished their scoring. Haines toiled for the Doughboys the rest of the game, allowing only one more run after the disastrous fifth.

ARMY PLEBE NINE VICTORIOUS

In a ninth inning rally, the Army plebes won from Mt. Vernon High School at West Point last Saturday, 8-7. Brown's home run to deep left tied the score in the Army's half of the eighth, and after Browning had singled past third in the ninth, O'Neil drove a liner over second to score him with the winning run. Army scored a run in each of the last three frames to overtake and pass the visitors.

NAVY OARSMEN LOSE

The shell bearing the light blue jerseyed oarsmen of Columbia University swept over the finish line a length and a half in front of the navy blue jerseys of the Naval Academy on the Harlem River, N. Y., last Saturday. It was the opening of the Eastern rowing season. The Columbia victory evened the count between the two schools, giving each seven races apiece.

It is interesting to note that Richard A. (Old Dick) Glendon, who coaches the Middies, is the father of Richard J. Glendon, who coaches the Columbia oarsmen, and also that Saturday's event was the third successive triumph of son over father.

Sykes of Columbia and Shelton, Navy veteran, set a fast pace from the start, but the Columbia crew slowly moved ahead. At the quarter mile, Navy trailed perceptibly, at the half they were a quarter length behind and at the mile three quarters of a length. A quarter of a mile from home clear water showed between the stern and bow. Navy spurred in a last effort to overtake their rivals but to no avail.

ARMY BOXERS IN AAU MEET

When the National AAU boxing tournament gets under way Monday evening, April 27, at Madison Square Garden, N. Y., ten soldiers of the Regular Army will be on hand to climb through the ropes.

With the contingent of boxers from Hawaii which arrived at Grand Central Station at 3:30 p.m., Tuesday, were two members of the Army's fighting force. Sgt. Walter W. Mackey, 21st Inf., and Pvt. Felix M. Bochenek, 19th Inf., fought their way through the best ringsters of Schofield Barracks and later went on to win the Hawaiian AAU championship to qualify for the trip.

The Hawaiian Department boxers left Honolulu April 11 aboard the City of Los Angeles and came across the continent by train, leaving Chicago by New York Central. They are quartered at the Knights of Columbus club house near the Garden.

The other six Army boxers are members of the 3d Corps Area team and are due here from Baltimore, Md., by special coach on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad at noon Monday, April 27.

The six are William McShea, Hq. Co., 34th Inf., Ft. Eustis, Va., 112 lbs.; James J. Stewart, Co. B, 12th Inf., Ft. Howard, Md., 118 lbs.; Robert A. Beistel, Co. A, 12th Inf., Ft. Howard, Md., 126 lbs.; Irving Johnson, 1st Medical Regt., Carlisle Barracks, Pa., 135 lbs.; Robert Goolsbee, Ft. Howard, Md., 147 lbs.; Robert J. Skriner, Langley Field, Va., 160 lbs.; William Vermillion, Tank School, Ft. Meade, Md., 175 lbs., and Raymond Tumolli, Signal Corps, Ft. Eustis, Va., heavyweight.

ARMY SMOTHERS COLGATE

The Army lacrosse team easily defeated Colgate at West Point last Saturday, scoring 1 times to the visitors' once. Army kept control of the ball most of the time, and only the excellent play of the Colgate goalie kept the score that low. Army used 28 players during the course of the game. Sheridan led the scoring for the Army, netting the ball three times.

Graduates Day at USNA

THIS year, at the Naval Academy, Saturday, May 30, the first day of "June Week," has been designated Graduates' Day. On this day the Graduates' Association will hold a reunion and dinner for graduates and former students of the Academy.

The Academic Authorities and the Graduates' Association are very anxious to have every graduate and every former student, who can possibly do so, revisit the Academy on Graduates' Day. Everything possible will be done to make the day a pleasant and enjoyable one; and in order that all who desire to do so may spend the night in Annapolis, bachelor accommodations, for graduates and for former students, will be available for Saturday night, May 30, in Bancroft Hall—midshipmen's quarters.

An interesting program for this day has been arranged—baseball, lacrosse track meet, and last, but not least, the dedication of the stadium to the memory of the late Col. Robert M. Thompson, Class of '68.

The Graduates' Association will give a luncheon at the Officers' Club to the graduates and former students, and to their families and friends; in the evening, the annual dinner for graduates and former students will be held in the Midshipmen's mess hall.

The Council of the Graduates' Association is in charge of all arrangements for this reunion, and will be glad to furnish any desired information. Requests for information should be addressed to Lt. Comdr. R. S. Robertson, Jr., USN, Ret., Secretary, Graduates' Association, 2034 Allen Place N. W., Washington, D. C.

Given Navy Cross Star

FOR distinguished service in Nicaragua, a Navy Cross Star to be worn with the Navy Cross has been awarded to Maj. Henry L. Larsen, USMC, now on duty at Marine Corps Headquarters. The Navy Cross was presented to Maj. Larsen in 1920 for service in France with the American Expeditionary Force. Accompanying the Navy Cross Star is the citation:

"For distinguished service in the line of his profession as Brigade Inspector, Second Brigade, U. S. Marine Corps, in Nicaragua, from April 1, 1928, to March 26, 1929. Maj. Larsen's duties in upbuilding and maintaining the morale of the forces, then engaged in a most difficult mission, were performed in a highly distinguished manner, always displaying zeal, activity, thorough understanding and discretion. His successful performance of these duties contributed greatly to the accomplishment of the mission of the naval forces engaged in the pacification of Nicaragua."

Posthumous Awards

SECRETARY of the Navy Charles Francis Adams, in the name of the President of the United States, has posthumously awarded the Navy Cross "for extraordinary heroism" to eight enlisted men of the Marine Corps killed in action with bandits near Achuapa, Nicaragua, on December 31, 1930, and at the same time awarded the Navy Cross "for distinguished service" to two enlisted men of the Marine Corps wounded in the same action.

The action of December 31, 1930, occurred when a Marine patrol of ten men, led by Sergeant Arthur M. Palrang and engaged in repairing a telephone line, was ambushed in the densely wooded, mountainous country 100 miles north of Managua. The action lasted for approximately two and one-half hours and it was estimated that eleven bandits were killed and four wounded.

Posthumous awards of the Navy Cross are made to:

Sgt. Arthur M. Palrang; Navy Cross forwarded to father, Arthur M. Palrang, Ft. Lyons, Colo.

Pvt. 1st Irving W. Aron; Navy Cross forwarded to mother, Mrs. Cecelia Aron, 141 East 21st street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Pvt. Lambert Bush; Navy Cross forwarded to father, Richard H. Bush, Bay Minette, Ala.

Pvt. Edward E. Elliott; Navy Cross forwarded to grandfather, E. V. Elliott, 1538 20th street place, Des Moines, Iowa.

Pvt. Joseph A. Harbaugh; Navy Cross forwarded to sister, Mrs. Clarence Marble, Washington, Pa.

Pvt. Frank Kosieradzki; Navy Cross forwarded to father, Peter Kosieradzki, 249 Boll street, Buffalo, N. Y.

Pvt. Richard J. Litz; Navy Cross forwarded to mother, Mrs. Pearl Litz, 1937 Park avenue, Indianapolis, Ind.

Pvt. Joseph A. McCarty; Navy Cross forwarded to father, John W. McCarty, Chillicothe, Mo.

Awards to two Marines injured:

Pvt. Frank A. Jackson, of Lawrenceville, Ga., now on duty at Norfolk, Va.

Pvt. Mack Hutcherson, of Shreveport, La., now ill in Naval Hospital, Norfolk, Va.

Crosses Equator

KING NEPTUNE boarded the USS Louisville, new 10,000-ton cruiser, April 17 when the ship crossed the equator in mid-Pacific, and sent his respects and compliments to "the President and other illustrious shellbacks" in Washington.

The message, relayed to the Department by Capt. Edward J. Marquart, USN, commanding the cruiser, follows: "Neptunus Rex, ruler of the raging main and king of the deep, now on board, graciously sends royal greetings to all trusty shellbacks in the Department, and dire warnings to all others that some day they shall be meted out their just deserts with the swift and terrible vengeance of the deep. His Majesty expresses gratification 'over special visit of finest ship of any Navy which has sailed the deep blue waters of the royal domain' and is showing his royal pleasure in appropriate ceremonies of initiations into the sacred high order of four hundred and fifty-seven pollywogs and landerabs. His Majesty also welcomes this opportunity to send his respects and compliments to the President and other illustrious shellbacks of his personal and official family. Longitude one forty one West."

The Louisville, on her shakedown cruise, left Pearl Harbor, T. H., April 13 for San Diego, Calif., and diverted her course southward to the Equator in order to be boarded by Neptunus Rex. The cruiser was due to arrive in San Diego April 24, and after standardization trials will join Cruiser Divisions, Scouting Force, operating in the Atlantic.

To Command Memphis

CAPT. JOSEPH VANCE OGAN, USN, has been detached from command of the USS Aglala, minesweeper, and will relieve Capt. George J. Meyers, in command of the USS Memphis, light cruiser, about May 15. Capt. Meyers has been ordered to the Office of Naval Operations, Navy Department.

To Command Los Angeles

COMDR. ALGER H. DRESEL, USN, has been ordered to command the rigid airship USS Los Angeles, relieving Lt. Comdr. Vincent A. Clarke, USN.

Comdr. Clarke will be attached to the Bureau of Aeronautics, Navy Department, for temporary duty. Upon completion of that duty he will be attached to the Board of Inspection and Survey as additional aviation member.

Comdr. Dresel was born in Annapolis, Md., Jan. 24, 1889, and was appointed to the Naval Academy by President Roosevelt in 1905. He was awarded a Navy Cross for his service during the World War.

Comdr. Dresel served in destroyers from 1918 to 1920 when he was assigned to the Bureau of Navigation where he served until 1924. He commanded the USS Borie and later the Villalobos on the Asiatic station from 1924 to 1927 and was on duty at the Naval Academy from 1927 to 1929.

Comdr. Dresel was a member of the lighter-than-air craft class at Lakehurst from June, 1929, to 1930, when he was attached to the Los Angeles.

To Embassy at Rome

LT. COMDR. F. W. PENNOYER, JR., CC, USN, has been ordered to the American Embassy at Rome, Italy, as Assistant Naval Attache. He will relieve Lt. Comdr. P. N. L. Bellinger, who has been ordered to command the USS Wright.

Comdr. Pennoyer is a graduate of the Naval Academy class of 1915, and present on duty in the Office of Naval Operations.

Exams for Lieutenants

Bureau of Supplies & Accounts, Signal Numbers 7306 (Lt. H. M. Shaffer) through 7421 (Lt. A. M. Bryan) will take the examination. Orders for this group will be issued at an early date to insure that the necessary papers may be transmitted to the Asiatic Station by May 15.

With the exception of those on duty in the Asiatic, lieutenants of the Medical Corps will be examined on June 22. Sixty-eight officers will take the exams—Signal Numbers 6356 (Lt. H. G. Noble) through 6423 (Lt. J. B. Bostick).

Officers of the Construction Corps to take examinations number 39. Signal Numbers 7891 (Lt. T. W. Richards) through 7930 (Lt. W. A. Sullivan), except 7896, come up for promotion. No date has been set for the exam.

Twelve Dental Corps and two Civil Engineer Corps lieutenants will be examined for promotion. They are: Dental Corps—Signal Numbers 7001 (Lt. W. F. Murdy) to 7012 (Lt. R. W. Quesinberry) inclusive; Civil Engineer Corps—Signal Numbers 9006 and 9007 (Lts. R. L. McLellan and H. W. Johnson). The dates for the exams will be set later.

The above officers of the line and various staff corps include about only those for whom known vacancies will exist. In the cases of officers who fail to qualify upon the examination for promotion other officers will be ordered up for examination.

The policy to be followed with regard to officers who fail upon examination has been laid down by the Department in a memorandum issued by the Director of Officer Personnel, Bureau of Navigation. This memorandum, which was exclusively published in the Army and Navy Journal, April 11, 1931, provides that each officer excepting those in the Washington area will be examined before a supervisory board. If they fail to qualify they will then be ordered before a statutory board and should they then fail they will be suspended for six months with loss of numbers, after which they may take the final examination. All those who fail will be retired as of June 30, 1932.

As the new law allowing retirement of officers of long service after failure upon examination does not apply to the Staff Corps, final action in such cases will be held up until Congress "has had an opportunity to consider and act upon proposed remedial legislation," the memorandum prescribes.

Comdr. Wortley Speaks

IN a warmly received address at the convention of the Reserve Officers' Association in New Orleans this week, Lt. Comdr. M. R. Wortley, D-F, National President, U. S. Naval Reserve Officers' Association, expressed greetings to the Army reservists from the Navy Reservists and impressed upon them the importance of building up and maintaining the Navy at treaty strength.

Comdr. Wortley prefaced his remarks with a definition of a Reserve Officer. "A Reserve Officer," he said, "is primarily a citizen who thoroughly believes in the doctrine of adequate national defense and secondarily, a soldier as an example to his fellow citizens of individual preparedness."

"In which capacity," Comdr. Wortley asked, "is he of the greater value to his country? I say, gentlemen, that he is of infinitely more value as a citizen expounding these ideals than he can possibly expect to be as a soldier."

Naval Appropriations

Speaking of the naval situation, the naval reserve president said:

"Last year naval appropriations amounted to 374 million dollars or a few cents over $3 per capita. Let me present a few comparative figures. Our national wealth is almost 1,000 times the amount of the naval appropriations just mentioned (360 billion). I am sure any of us would be glad to obtain life insurance at a premium of one dollar per thousand. The annual income of the United States is almost 90 billion or 240 times the amount of naval appropriations. The value of our foreign trade is approximately 10 billions annually. The people of this country spend more every year for each of such luxuries as ice cream, cigarettes, candy, cosmetics, the movies, etc., than is appropriated to maintain our Navy. Fifty per cent of the annual income of bootleggers and blind pig operators would be more than enough to finance both the Army and the Navy."

Below Treaty Strength

"England and Japan are at present within one or two per cent of treaty strength while the United States is almost 15 per cent below its treaty quota."

"During the nine years that have elapsed since the Washington Conference our fleet has been allowed to deteriorate to the extent of about 75 million annually. In other words we have been spending about 25 million each year for the replacement of obsolete and worn out equipment whereas the amount actually necessary to cover proper annual replacement costs is approximately 100 million. The precedent which has been established of relatively small expenditures for fleet maintenance is one which will be difficult to overcome for the reason that the people have become accustomed to low scale naval expenditures and will be hard to convince of the necessity for larger appropriations required to bring the Navy up to treaty strength and the additional replacements now necessary as the result of nine years of neglect. Undoubtedly some will charge that the United States could not have afforded 75 million additional per year for fleet maintenance. As a matter of fact there has been an average surplus of Federal revenues of more than 350 millions of dollars per year during the past nine-year period. Replacement costs are now estimated to be about 500 million in addition to nearly 300 million necessary for build-representative of the War Department, who received the first Major General's salute since his recent promotion. Col. C. D. Herron, War Dept. executive for reserve affairs, also was guest of association.

The convention was opened with an invocation by Chaplain Charles L. Nourse followed by welcome address of Capt. John B. Murphy, MI-Res., on behalf of local convention committee.

Col. George Vidmer, representing Maj. Gen. Frank R. McCoy, commanding general Fourth Corps Area, made an interesting address, as did Col. Henry R. Richmond, chief of staff, 87th Division, who made a special plea for ROTC graduates.

Brig. Gen. Milton A. Reckord, adjutant general of Maryland and executive vice president of the National Rifle Association, made an addressing stressing need of proper gun equipment. Lt. Comdr. M. R. Wortley, national president of the U. S. Naval Reserve Officers' Association, gave an interesting address in which he emphasized the vital necessity of building a treaty strength navy.

Gen. Bowley made a forceful talk to the convention. "What we are interested in," he said, "is the next war not the last war." He pointed out the need for trained personnel, both regular and reserve, and outlined the War Department's problems regarding training.

Col. Herron Speaks

Col. Herron assured the Reserve Officers that they are not being neglected by the War Department, which is counting on them to furnish one-half officer personnel for a major emergency.

The final report of Col. Walter C. Cole, retiring president, disclosed pacifist activities and pointed out that scarcity of appropriations is having discouraging effect on Reserve Officers.

Brig. Gen. Henry J. Reilly, chairman of the Legislative Committee, presented a detailed and interesting report showing accomplishments in causing passage of the reserve status bill and the assistance rendered to the National Guard in endeavoring to secure passage of the Speaks Bill.

The convention passed a number of resolutions, notably one endorsing a reserve division on the War Department General Staff and one protesting strict interpretation of the War Department's directive regarding reserve training by Corps Area commanders, resulting in loss of training by interested Reserve Officers.

Many elaborate social features including carnival parade by L. S. U. Cadets, headed by Governor Huey P. Long, and a garden party by Mrs. Kemper Williams were held.

Comdr. Wortley's Address ing up to treaty strength by Dec. 31, 1936, the expiry date of the treaty.

"Although I understand that the Navy Department is contemplating certain definite recommendations to Congress as to the building and replacement program necessary to achieve treaty strength, it is very doubtful that the Navy Department recommendations will be of sufficient proportions to accomplish this, owing to the influence of the present Administration which proposes an expenditure of only about 45 million in the next fiscal year or less than half the amount required annually during the next five years for building and replacement necessary under the terms of the treaty.

"In conclusion may I express the sincere hope that you advocate Congressional appropriation of sufficient funds for the actual accomplishment of a treaty strength Navy, both as an organization and individually as patriotic citizens of the United States. First VOTE and second vote for the man who will carry out your ideas."

Military Intelligence

APPLICATION of the system of Military Intelligence to the business world is discussed in an article signed by Maj. George J. Starr, MI-Res., in the March issue of "Credit and Financial Management." The article, illustrated with photographs from "All Quiet on the Western Front," describes the operation of the Army's system of collecting intelligence, analyzing and distributing intelligence, and concludes with the statement "What wonders could be achieved if we would devote to peaceful pursuits the study, effort and money that we devote to war."

Col. Cole's Address

THE annual message of Col. Walter C. Cole, Air-Res., as National President of the Reserve Officers Association of the United States was delivered and enthusiastically received at the convention of the organization this week in New Orleans.

Aside from the feature of presenting a review of the accomplishments of the association for the year, Col. Cole's address constituted a vigorous appeal to the Nation for support of its forces of National Defense.

With respect to the Reserves, Col. Cole made many important recommendations.

"The present lack of standardization in the training of the Reserve component," Col. Cole declared, "is having a distressing effect on the morale and efficiency of Reserve Officers. It is believed that this situation could be corrected by the planning of a uniform directive for the training of the Reserve component by the War Department. As matters now stand, policies for training are subject to many different interpretations by the various corps area and department commanders, with the result that there is but little uniformity in the training of Reserve Officers and in the handling of Reserve affairs generally.

Care of Disabled Reserves

"Many cases have been brought to my attention during the past two years of Reserve Officers who have been seriously injured and disabled while performing active duty.

"I recommend that this convention recommend to the Congress of the United States the amendment of the National Defense Act in substance as follows:—

"Any Reserve Officer heretofore or hereafter disabled while performing active duty, shall, if the retiring board of the United States Army shall find such disability to have been incurred in line of duty, be entitled to all the rights, privileges and benefits (including retirement pay) conferred by law on Officers of the Regular Army disabled in line of duty."

Col. Cole recalled to the association the comprehensive "Declaration of Principles" which it adopted in 1929 and urged that the officers of all departments and chapters be requested to read it at every meeting of these organizations.

Military Defense Council

Col. Cole reported the organization of the Associated Military Defense Council with Brig. Gen. Henry J. Reilly, the first national president of the ROA, as chairman. This council represents the Reserve components of the Army, Navy and Marine Corps and is solely a liaison body between the various organizations.

"The Regular Army and National Guard today," Col. Cole pointed out, "have an authorized strength of much less than 50 per cent of the number provided in the Act (National Defense Act). If these protective agencies are to function efficiently in the event of a national emergency they must function efficiently in time of peace and provide the framework on which a great national Army of well trained men could be built to defend our country in the event of war. It is generally recognized that our peace time structure of today fails to provide that framework.

"It is recommended that the Association use its best efforts at all times, not only to see that these two components of our Army are not further reduced but that they are expanded to a proper degree so that they can fulfill the functions prescribed in the National Defense Act.

Discouraging Effect

"Scarcity of proper training due to inadequate appropriations is also having a very discouraging effect on the reserve officers of the country. In order to train the largest number of officers with the smallest possible expenditure of moneys the junior officers are encouraged to take training and the general policy followed being that not more than 10 per cent of the total number of officers trained in any one year shall be of field grade.

"If the inadequate appropriations for Reserve training are continued and Reserve officers do not receive proper training they will be of little immediate value in the event of a national emergency.

There are many evidences of this lack of training on the inactive list of the Reserves today.

"It is generally recognized that the pacifists and others who advocate complete land disarmament are making an organized effort to bring about a gradual reduction in the appropriation for the civilian components of the Army with the end in view of their early emasculation.

"In my opinion the National Defense Act, particularly the civilian component of the Army, has reached the breaking point. Appropriations must be increased or the pacifistic and internationalistic effort, carried on under the guise of economy coupled with charges of inefficiency of the civilian component, will be successful.

"The appropriation for the organized Reserves for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1932, namely $6,537, 785, provides for the training of approximately 22,000 Reserve officers, whereas a minimum of 26,000 officers should be trained annually to maintain this civilian component on an efficient basis.

Should Train 26,000

"Every effort should be made to secure sufficient funds from the next Congress to train 26,000 officers for the next fiscal year. Failure to provide for this training will be a marked victory for the Pacifist and Internationalist forces as it will have a very discouraging effect on the Reserve Officers of the country and will ultimately result in the emasculation of that great potential civilian army which this country must have in the event of another national emergency."

Disparity between the air forces of this country and of other major powers was graphically pointed out by the retiring president. "I most urgently recommend," Col. Cole declared, "that this association give its whole hearted support and cooperation in the building up of our aerial force to the point that it may properly and quickly function in the defense of our country in the event of a national emergency."

Col. Cole urged the appointment of a special committee to assist in the highly important activity of industrial preparedness. Speaking of the ROTC and CMTG development he declared that "It is essential that every encouragement and assistance be given by this association in the proper development of these two institutions."

Expresses Appreciation

In conclusion Col. Cole said. "I desire to express my appreciation to the Secretary of War, the Hon. Patrick J. Hurley; the Assistant Secretary of War, the Hon. Frederick H. Payne; Assistant Secretary of War, the Hon. F. Trubee Davison; the Chief of Staff of the Army, Gen. Douglas MacArthur; the Deputy Chief of Staff, Maj. Gen. George Van Horn Moseley; the Executive for Reserve Affairs, Col. G. D. Herron; the Chiefs of Arms and Services; and the Corps Area and Department Commanders for their sympathetic interest in the welfare and progress of the Organized Reserves and Services; and the Corps Area and Officers Association of the United States.

"My contacts with these gentlemen have been most pleasant.

"Permit me to acknowledge and express my gratitude for the loyal support and cooperation received at all times from the other National Officers, Advisory Council, Executive Committee, National Council, standing and special committees, departments, chapters and the membership generally.

"I desire to particularly express my appreciation for the loyal support and untiring efforts of Gen. Henry J. Reilly, Chairman of the Advisory Council and Legislative Committee, Col. L. Kemper Williams, Senior Vice President, and Lt. Col. E. J. Roberson, National Secretary.

"It has been a great honor for me to have served as your chief executive. I will always cherish the associations and friendships that were developed during my administration as your President.

"My tour of duty will soon be over and I will take my place once more in the ranks of the finest body of men with which I have ever been associated."

SATURDAY, APRIL 25, 1931

"Surely high-ranking officers in the Army and Navy are entitled to the same rate of pay granted to men who have made successes of their careers in other fields." * * * ST. PAUL, MINN., DISPATCH.

PRESIDENT GREEN, of the American Federation of Labor, in an address before the Harvard Business School Club, pointed out that the cost of living has declined 10 per cent from 1929 to 1931.

Since the revision of the Service pay schedules in 1908, the prices of commodities advanced 104 per cent to its high level in 1928.

The wages of workers advanced from 1908 to 1930 an average of 162 per cent. The pay of the Services advanced 11 per cent in the same period.

Clearly, the condition of the Army, the Navy, and the Marine Corps, demands adjustment of pay with the tremendously higher cost of living.

President Green recognizes this fact. He and the Federation are on record in favor of pay increase for the regular establishments.

We are in hearty sympathy with the effort of President Hoover and President Green to maintain the high wage levels of 1929. The pertinent evidence of their interest would be the enactment of a Service pay increase bill. It would serve as notice to the country that living costs require a high wage scale, and would be a policy of law for corporation observance.

HOW similar is the procedure of the Hoover administration in Central America with that of President Wilson in connection with Mexico. Some fifteen years ago we occupied Vera Cruz, and sent Gen. Pershing into northern Mexico to capture or kill Villa. We withdrew from Vera Cruz, and ordered Pershing home. Secretary of State Bryan denounced Americans working in interior Mexico and deprived them of protection. Secretary Stimson announced that the Marines would be withdrawn from Managua, and declared that Americans would be protected only at seaports. President Wilson declared war on Huerta, President Hoover has described Sandino as a murderous bandit beyond the civilized pale. Had the Marines been given a free hand and sufficient force, Sandino would have been captured or killed long ago, and the present situation, with its evil consequences, among them the murder of American and other foreign nationals, would not have arisen. Wilson was charged by the Republicans with "wobbling." Hoover is charged by the Democrats with "wobbling." We recommend to the President the policy which resulted in the capture of Aguinaldo, and the Roosevelt policy described in the epigram: "Speak softly and carry a big stick."

THE disarmament negotiations in London, resumed as a result of the visit to that city this week of Rene Massigli, the French government's chief naval expert, will determine whether or not Great Britain will invoke the "escalator clause" in the treaty signed by the United States, Great Britain, and Japan. If such should occur, the disarmament conference of 1932 will suffer a body blow. Coming nearer home, Great Britain will build in order to have the superiority over the French and Italian navies, which she considers necessary for the protection of her interests, and if the United States remains quiescent as during the last session of Congress, there will be greater disparity in the strength of the American and British fleets. The truth is Europe is concerned by the possibilities of the future. If internecine war should break out in republican Spain, Mussolini may see therein an opportunity to extend Italian sovereignty over the few Spanish islands remaining and France may feel free to increase her hold on Morocco. Here would develop additional grounds for conflict between these states. In such circumstances, statesmen of the Old World naturally are very chary about disarmament of their own countries, but exceedingly urgent in support of it for other lands.

IT SEEMS to be a fixed policy on the part of the administration to make public annually a statement of the cost of national defense, including therein expenditures resulting from past wars. For example, it is stated that during the first nine months of the present fiscal year a total expenditure of $3,126,540,000 occurred, of which $2,124,737,000 are attributed to war. But of the latter sum, nearly $1,500,000,000 is made up of interest on the public debt and veteran relief. We are glad to have the Treasury give publicity to the figures quoted, for they will help to make the country realize that preparedness is far less expensive than war and a cheap insurance against it. Everyone now appreciates that had the United States been powerful it would not have been drawn into the World War. Moreover, Gen. Pershing has pictured graphically the situation when we finally became involved. It does not take an economist to calculate the terrible wastes which occurred and which now are charged up to the cost of National Defense. But we suggest to those who prepared the Treasury statement as an argument for pacifism that attempted deception is apt to have a different reaction from that intended.

IT IS announced that during the Summer, President Hoover will study personally the organization of the different executive departments. He will send for subordinates, principally chiefs of bureaus, and ascertain from each the duties he and his force perform; whether some of them are necessary and whether others overlap with the work of different bureaus.

Such a study will be both informative and probably valuable in showing a way to the reduction of government costs. It will be welcomed by the Army and Navy. It is unfortunate that the President has had comparatively little contact with the armed forces. The Chief of Staff and the Chiefs of Arms and Departments will be able to educate the Chief Executive in the needs and conditions of the Army and to convince him that the efficiency which exists has been acquired at a very low expenditure. Similarly, the Chief of Operations and the Chiefs of Bureaus of the Navy Department will acquaint him with the high accomplishments of the sea service. It is possible such a study will convince the President that an increase of pay is vital. We can assure him if he gets all the facts—and investigation will disclose them—that he will no longer hesitate to give expression to the country's demand in favor of such action.

SEND your queries to the ARMY AND NAVY JOURNAL QUESTION EDITOR and an answer will be given as soon as possible after receipt either in this column or by mail. Questions relative to living conditions at Army posts or Navy shore stations will be answered in detail by letter.

N. H. M.—The Army Band Masters' Bill (S. 1011) failed of enactment during the last Congress. The measure passed the Senate April 17, 1930, and was reported to the House by the Military Affairs Committee Feb. 14, 1931, but no further action was taken upon it.

G. A. S.—We are informed by the office of the Quartermaster General that you are number forty-six on the eligible list for promotion to the grade of technical sergeant, Supply. It is rather unlikely that you will be promoted before the next list of eligibles is made up in November as all who make a higher grade than yours on the next examination will go ahead of you. It would probably be to your advantage to take the examination again, we are advised by that office.

H. M. G.—The Office of the Chief of Infantry, War Department, informs us that your leave is at present, one month and twenty-nine days. You are entitled to another month on July 1, giving you, at that time, two months, and twenty-nine days accrued leave.

A. H. H.—According to information received from the Veterans' Bureau, your enlistment in the Navy during the period you specified entitles you to compensation and specification as a veteran. However, you are not entitled to bonus compensation for this was limited to those who served previous to the Armistice. A certified copy of ficient evidence to give you the special your discharge from the Navy is sufficient of a veteran, for credit in civil service examinations, exemption of local tax bills, etc.

SERVICE NEWS AND GOSSIP

Capt. H. D. Cooke New Commandant of Midshipmen—With the close of the academic year at the Naval Academy this year most of the ranking officers there will take up other duties. Besides the relief of Rear Adm. S. S. Robison by Rear Adm. T. C. Hart as Superintendent, Capt. Henry D. Cooke, at present head of the department of physical training at the Academy, will become Commandant of Midshipmen. Capt. John W. Wilcox, Jr., now commanding the USS Camden, has been ordered to the Naval Academy. According to dispatches from Annapolis he will take over Capt. Cooke's duties in charge of athletics. Comdr. Frederick G. Reinicke, director of football, goes to the Naval War College, while his successor will probably be named in a few days. Capt. F. H. Sadler, now on duty at the Academy, relieves Capt. A. T. Church as head of the post-graduate school.

England Develops New AA Gun and Shortens Bayonet—Press dispatches say that the British Army has developed a mobile anti-aircraft gun that will materially lessen the dangers of aerial attack. The dispatches also state that a new bayonet, only 9 inches in length, has just been approved. The old bayonet was 20 inches in length.

The new British anti-aircraft gun, of which remarkable achievements are expected, is very like our own 3-inch anti-aircraft mobile gun, which is standard in the Coast Artillery. The new British gun is reported to be .77 mm. caliber. The 3-inch gun is approximately the same caliber. The British gun is said to be of entirely new design, but details are lacking. Both the British and American guns fire a projectile of about 15 lbs. The ranges of fire of the two guns differ but little, the maximum vertical range being about 5 miles for each, while the British gun is reported to have a maximum horizontal range of nearly 8 miles. The American gun has a maximum horizontal range of about 9 miles. The English gun has a weight of about 3½ tons, while the American gun, including the mount, weighs about 15,000 lbs., or about 7½ tons. The British claim is for a high degree of mobility. The American gun is very mobile also. The British claim a rate of fire of about 25 rounds a minute, which is approximately the same as the American normal rate of fire.

The change in the British bayonet reduces its length from 20 inches to 9, and reduces its weight about a half pound. The bayonet used by the United States infantrymen is 16½ inches in length. It is believed that the longer bayonet is more effective, and that the only advantage in reduction in length is to cut down weight. Probably the most vital use of the bayonet is in the lunge, and obviously the longer bayonet is the more effective in this case. The shape of the English bayonet has also been changed, the new blade being triangular, and sturdier than the old flat blade. The Belgian bayonet is now 9½ inches long; the Italian 11½ inches long, and the French and German about 15.

Another change the British are introducing is the use of the aperture sight on the army rifle, replacing the old V-shaped sight previously used exclusively. The American Springfield rifle, it will be recalled, has the V-shaped, or "battle sight" as well as the aperture sight. The British expect to gain in accuracy of rifle fire by this change.

Change Regulations for Appointment in Reserve From Blue CMTC Course—Examining boards may recommend appointments in the Officers' Reserve Corps from graduates of the Blue Course, CMTC students under approved changes in AR 350-2200 and 140-5. These changes will also include authority for exemption of such graduates from the knowledge tests for Military Discipline, Courtesies and Customs of the Service; Interior Guard Duty; Military Sanitation and First Aid, and Coast Artillery Ammunition and Weapons and Materiel and exemption under ability qualifications, Series AR 140-22-38. This information is being disseminated by an Adjutant General's letter.

If the course of further study prescribed in paragraph 16, AR 350-2200 has been completed and the graduates otherwise meet the requirements they may be recommended for appointment without board proceedings. For those who have not completed the further course of study but who it is believed can qualify by examination, action accordingly should be taken by the corps area commander. It is held desirable that such action be taken as soon as practicable with a view to avoiding loss to the Officers' Reserve Corps of desirable graduates and to insuring consideration within a period of five years from date of completion of the Blue Course of those graduated in 1926.

For students of the Blue Course subsequent to 1930, arrangements should be made for consideration by examining boards of all who successfully complete the Blue Course and whose examination with a view to appointment in the Officers' Reserve Corps is recommended by the Camp Commander. Graduates who are not considered sufficiently qualified by the camp commander by reason of correspondence work not satisfactorily completed or lack of sufficient study or training will not be ordered before an examining board, but will be advised of the further study deemed advisable and instructed to apply to the corps area commander for examination when they believe they can satisfactorily pass the examination. It is desirable that corps area commanders keep in touch with students not recommended for appointment with a view to giving them every opportunity to qualify.

No Exam. for Transferring Enginemen—Commanding officers have been authorized by the Bureau of Navigation to change the rating of all enginemen 1st cl. and enginemen 2nd cl. to their corresponding machinist's mate rating, regardless of vacancies in the machinist's mate allowance, all changes to be completed not later than June 30, 1931. No examination to effect these changes will be required. By the terms of the original letter abolishing the rating of enginemen and consolidating it with that of machinist's mate, it was necessary for enginemen to be examined and found qualified for the duties of the other rating.

Enginemen in a discharged status, re-enlisting under continuous service after June 30, 1931, will be re-enlisted in corresponding machinist's mate rating, if otherwise qualified for re-enlistment, the new circular provides. Because of the injustice that would result in the case of enginemen transferring to machinist's mate ratings, were they required to serve one year in rating from date of such transfer, the Bureau has decided that all continuous service as enginemen and machinist's mate may be counted in determining service eligibility for advancement to the next higher machinist's mate rating, notwithstanding the provisions of Article D-5106 (1), Bureau of Navigation Manual.

C. P. O. Candidates Must Be Re-examined by New Boards—Candidates for chief petty officer ratings serving on destroyers and submarines will have to be re-examined by new boards of officers, the Bureau of Navigation holds. In the past, the fact that men on destroyers and submarines were examined by officers of the division in which they served occasioned much discontent among men aboard other classes of vessels of the fleet. The latter were examined by officers from other vessels who had no previous personal contact with them, and it was felt that they were rated more strictly than was the case of men coming before officers who knew them personally. Taking cognizance of this, the Bureau of Navigation issued a circular letter this week (26-31) providing that "Men will be examined by boards of officers assembled from ships outside the divisions to which assigned in the cases of destroyers and submarines." Submarine Division Twelve, which is operating alone, was excepted from the provisions of the order. "Men who already have been examined by boards appointed from ships within divisions to which assigned will be re-examined," it was further ordained.

Promotion of Non-Commissioned Staff Officers, Ordnance Department—Correspondence between the commanding officer of an Ordnance post and the Chief of Ordnance reveals a tendency on the part of some officers to hold that the character and ability of the non-commissioned officers of the first three grades in this department are not up to the standard that they had attained in 1917. The officer, whose name is withheld, writes to Maj. Gen. Hof that two facts have an important bearing on this decline. The first is that the relative advantages with respect to rank and pay in comparison with all non-commissioned officers of the Army have been lost, and the second is that selection is now almost entirely from the limited enlisted personnel of the Ordnance Department, whereas prior to 1917 a portion of the ablest non-commissioned officers of the entire Army were attracted to the position of Ordnance sergeant. The officer continues that many distinctly inferior men are sent to the Enlisted Specialists' School at Raritan Arsenal. He believes that if carefully considered requirements were published a considerable number of able non-commissioned officers from line organizations could still be attracted to the Ordnance Department.

Gen. Hof's conclusion in answer to this letter follows:

"There is much room for improvement in the Ordnance non-commissioned staff as it stands today. If those whose duty it is to attend to such matters will carefully prepare efficiency reports on our first three grade enlisted men, will exercise due care in making recommendations regarding eligibility, and will submit reports on the inefficient, recommending termination of their warrants, it is felt that much improvement could be accomplished in a short time."

Gen. Hof also stated in his letter that great help can be given the Ordnance Department in improving the caliber of the higher grade non-commissioned officers by stimulating high-grade men to apply for appointment to the grade of staff sergeant. Ordnance officers and non-commissioned officers of the first three grades, he said, could be of great assistance, particularly if serving in contact with troops.

Schedule of Army School Course, Fiscal Year 1932—The Adjutant General has compiled the annual schedule of Army School Courses for the fiscal year 1932. As a general rule the courses and dates parallel those for the current year.

The Air Corps tactical courses will be shifted from Langley Field, Va., to Maxwell Field, Ala., with the dates remaining virtually the same, Sept. 21, 1931, to June 15, 1932, for the Regular Army, and Feb. 1, 1932, to May 31, 1932, for the National Guard and Reserve officers. In the primary flying courses, whereas previously there had been six such courses for student pilots, three at Brooks Field and three at March Field, next year there will only be four, all to be at Randolph Field, Tex.

The Chemical Warfare School at Edgewood, Md., has added a course for officers of the Navy Construction Corps to be held Sept. 21, 1931, to Oct. 10, 1931.

The Coast Artillery advanced gunnery course, which last year was held from Aug. 15 to Nov. 30, will next year be held March 20 to April 15. No course is scheduled for advanced motor transport for battery officers of the Regular Army, such as was held last year. Two new courses have been added, however, for enlisted men, one for stereoscopic observers, Regular Army, three months as required, and a special electrical course for enlisted men of the National Guard, Sept. 14 to Dec. 18, 1931, both to be held at Ft. Monroe.

In the Infantry there is a slight difference in the dates for the Regular Army refresher course at Ft. Benning, the new one being scheduled for Oct. 15 to Nov. 18, 1931, while the last one was Nov. 5 to Dec. 3, 1930.

The Signal Corps course for company officers, Regular Army, which last year was designated for "Signal Corps Only," will this year be for "Signal Corps and especially selected officers of other arms," and will start two weeks earlier, Aug. 31 instead of Sept. 1, as last year, concluding June 15, 1932.

Reorganization of Air Corps Schools—The general plan for the reorganization of Air Corps schools provides for moving the Air Corps tactical school from Langley Field, Va., to Maxwell Field, Ala., and consolidating the two primary training schools, now at Brooks Field, Tex., and March Field, Calif., into one primary training school at Randolph Field, Tex.

In accordance with this plan, the Secretary of War has directed the following: March Field, Calif.—The 13th School Group will be demobilized on April 30, 1931, and the enlisted men assigned thereto will be transferred in grade and rating to a new organization—the Headquarters and Headquarters Squadron, Air Corps Primary Flying School. The 54th School Squadron will also be rendered inactive on April 30. Part of its personnel will be transferred to the 47th School Squadron, which latter organization will be reorganized with the strength of 100 enlisted men. The Headquarters and Headquarters Squadron, Air Corps Primary Flying School and the 47th School Squadron will move by rail to Randolph Field on June 1, 1931. The records of the 54th School Squadron will be transferred to Maxwell Field, Ala. Personnel remaining surplus after the change in organization will be retained at March Field in grades and ratings, attached to other units at this field.

Maxwell Field, Ala.—The 22nd Observation Squadron will be moved about June 25, 1931, to Brooks Field, Tex. This movement of personnel, which will include all officers assigned to the squadron at date of travel, and 91 of its 182 enlisted men, will be by rail, except for airplanes, which will be flown. The remaining 91 men of the 22d Observation Squadron will be retained at Maxwell Field and transferred to other units to be organized at that field. On July 15, 1931, the Air Corps Tactical School will be organized at Maxwell Field. It will consist of the Headquarters, the 54th School Squadron, the Maxwell Field Air Corps Detachment, and the 4th Photo Section. Total enlisted strength of 319 men.

Langley Field, Va.—One officer and 100 enlisted men of the Air Corps Tactical School will move by rail so as to arrive at Maxwell Field, Ala., between June 25 and July 1, 1931, followed by one officer and 55 men to arrive between July 1 and July 15, 1931. The remaining enlisted men of the Air Corps Tactical School will be transferred to the 2d Bombardment Group at Langley Field. Langley Field will cease to be the station of the Air Corps Tactical School on July 15, 1931.

New Prospect Looms for Surgeon Generalcy of Army—In the midst of the multitude of rumors as to who will succeed Maj. Gen. Merritte W. Ireland as Surgeon General of the Army when he retires May 31, a new factor has entered which appears to change the outlook—at least in the minds of many in Washington. Current gossip, and there is no lack of it on this subject, has it that Col. Robert U. Patterson, now assigned to Ft. Shafter, T. H., has been picked for the post which Gen. Ireland has held for more than twelve years.

Those who discuss the subject point out that Gen. Douglas MacArthur has cabled Col. Patterson to come to Washington for temporary duty in the office of the Chief of Staff. Col. Patterson sailed from Honolulu April 21 on the St. Mihiel. Why, it is asked, should the Chief of Staff send to Hawaii for a medical officer to confer with unless he means to make him Surgeon General? It is entirely possible that the general wants to get his advice on matters concerning veterans' hospitalization, in which Col. Patterson has had much experience. But that little matter of the surgeon generalcy seems to get much more credence as the likely subject of conference.

To Invite Bids for Several Christie Tanks—The special board appointed by the War Department has completed the tests of the pilot model of the Christie tank at Aberdeen Proving Ground. These tests furnished much valuable information concerning the possibilities and limitations of this convertible type of combined wheel and track-laying vehicle and indicated certain necessary changes in design. Based upon this information the Ordnance Department has prepared revised specifications and submitted them to the Chief of Infantry for comment and recommendation. As soon as these specifications are agreed upon the Ordnance Department plans to send out proposals inviting bids for the manufacture of several more of this type vehicle to be issued to the Infantry for extended service test.

AN OBJECTOR

Editor, Army and Navy Journal:

I HAVE read with interest the new promotion bill and also the accompanying explanation. There is, I find, one main fault with the bill as it is now. That is after the initial promotion that would occur if the bill were passed, the "hump" that exists now in the grade of captain would merely be moved up. So, while temporary relief would be afforded to the stagnated officers, promotion thereafter would proceed at only a slightly faster rate than at present.

While "half a loaf is better than none," I still would like to see some method worked out by which the evils of the hump could be eliminated. It is obviously unfair that certain officers should be faced with the knowledge that they will never reach a higher grade than that of captain, or possibly, in some cases, of major, before retirement, while other officers, much younger, who have had but little more actual service could reach the grades of lieutenant colonel and colonel before retirement.

It is not a matter of personal feeling that causes me to write this letter, but a sense of injustice.

Justice.

FAVORS PROMOTION BILL

Editor, Army and Navy Journal:

I HAVE given a great deal of study to the new promotion bill which you reproduced a short time ago in your columns, and I also have discussed the proposed legislation with several officers, whom I feel certain, gave their unbiased opinion.

In my opinion, and in the opinion of others, the new bill would be a very excellent thing. It would provide more relief for the officers caught in the hump than they could reasonably expect short of any measure that provided forced attrition. I believe I am correct when I say that outside of a possible occasional "crank" no army officer desires any such drastic measures. The increase in the percentage allotted to the field grades to 40 per cent will in the future provide for a more rapid rate of promotion than at the present. Men entering in the grades of second lieutenant will be certain that they will become first lieutenants after three years' service and captains after seven more years. From then on promotion will flow smoothly.

This is the first promotion bill that the War Department has supported, and besides having this active interest, the bill also carries the prestige of expert preparation under the direction and approval of those men who are most familiar with the Army and its needs.

I believe that if Army "cliques" do not offer objections to the bill, it has a very good chance of enactment into law at the next session of Congress. If, however, there is dissension among the officers themselves—as there has been before—the bill may fail. Congress is not likely to give strict attention to the measure unless it is unanimously and wholeheartedly backed by those to whom it will apply.

Well-Wisher.

Heads Navy P. G. School

CAPT. F. H. SADLER, USN, has been named to head the Navy Postgraduate School, Naval Academy, succeeding Capt. A. T. Church, who goes to the Puget Sound Navy Yard. Capt. Sadler entered the naval service in 1899 from Alabama. He is a graduate of the Naval War College senior course, and holds the Navy Cross. He is at present on duty at the Naval Academy.

OBITUARIES

Announcement of deaths should be addressed to Editorial Office, Army and Navy Journal, Architects Building, Washington, D. C.

REAR ADM. ROYAL RODNEY INGERSOLL, USN, ret., died April 12, at Washington, D. C. He was 83 years old.

Mrs. Ingersoll and his son, Capt. Royal Eason Ingersoll, USN, were with him when he died.

Rear Adm. Ingersoll had served in the Navy during the Civil War, the Spanish-American War and the World War.

He was born in Niles, Mich., Dec. 4, 1847. He was retired from active service in 1908, but was recalled during the World War and was made president of a special naval ordinance board.

The many friends of Capt. Samuel H. Ware, QMC, USA, will be grieved to learn of his death in Asheville, N. C., April 14. He had been stationed at Ft. Bragg, N. C., and with his family was driving to Ft. Benjamin Harrison, Ind., where he was ordered for duty as Constructing Quartermaster. On March 14, while spending the night at a hotel in Asheville, he suffered a paralytic stroke caused by an embolism and was taken to the Mission Hospital, where he remained until his death. His body was taken to Washington and buried in Arlington with military honors.

Capt. Ware was born at Ft. Monroe, Va., Oct. 26, 1879, and was the son of the late Mr. James Ware, who for many years was chief civilian engineer at Ft. Monroe.

Capt. Ware was a most loyal, efficient and popular officer, and his death will be a real loss to the service.

In 1910 he married Miss Mabel McAndrews of Honolulu, who survives him with their two sons, Everett Houston and Samuel Houston, Jr. He is survived by two brothers, Mr. James E. Ware, Chief Clerk of the U. S. Engineer Department of Norfolk, Va.; Lt. Col. Joseph F. Ware, USA, ret., of Dierdorf, Germany, and two sisters, Mrs. J. H. Cook of Westbrook, Conn., and Mrs. J. B. Dennis, wife of Capt. John B. Dennis, USN, assistant to the chief of the Bureau of Medicine and Surgery, Navy Department, Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Ware, her mother, Mrs. Dena McAndrews, and Everett and Samuel, Jr., are at the Brighton Hotel, 2120 California Street N. W., Washington, D. C. They will motor to New York and sail on the transport Grant on May 5, for San Francisco, where they plan to make their home.

Mr. Edward T. McEnany, formerly of the firm of McEnany & Scott, and for 43 consecutive years connected with the Cadet Store at West Point, died suddenly at his residence in New Rochelle, N. Y., Apr. 12, in his 78th year.

"King Mac," as he was known to the many friends he made throughout his long association with the officers, was born at West Point Feb. 22, 1853. At the close of the Civil War, while still a small boy, he enlisted in the Drum Corps for a three-year term. After completion of that service, he entered the Mount Pleasant Military Academy near Ossining, N. Y., and after four years there, decided on a business career. Maj. Catlin, who was in charge of the Cadet Quartermaster Store at West Point in 1874, offered him a position with him and his acceptance led to a lifetime in connection with the Cadets. He served for 43 consecutive years, the last twenty of which he acted as superintendent. Upon his retirement in 1917, he came to New York and formed the firm of McEnany & Scott. He continued actively in this until Jan., 1929, when his health began to fail and he felt the need of someone to carry on the splendid name he had made for himself throughout the service.

However, he maintained desk space with the firm and enjoyed coming in regularly and, until two weeks before his death, he took pleasure in meeting the men he had endeared himself to throughout the long years of association. When the fact was considered that he knew perhaps more officers in the U. S. Army than any other one man in the U. S., it was a remarkable faculty that he still remembered their

Personals

AT the Hotel Commander in Cambridge Thursday evening a dinner was given to Maj. Gen. Harry L. Gilchrist, Chief of the Chemical Warfare Service, by the chemical chapter of the Reserve Officers' Association. There were present 65 officers, many of whom came from distant points in the Corps Area. Capt. W. A. Guild, president of the chapter, presided and introduced Gen. Gilchrist and the other speakers.

The general explained the organization of the 305th Chemical Regiment lately allotted to this area, which will consist of three Battalions, one of which will be located in Boston. The regiment will be a motorized unit made up of 94 officers and about 1200 enlisted men. Many of the States have requested the formation of chemical units, and the First Corps Area is particularly fortunate in having the 305th allotted to it. The latter part of the General's address was illustrated with lantern slides which showed conclusively that this new weapon is most humane, the General declaring: "If there is anything humane about warfare it is in the use of chemicals and more of them."

Other prominent speakers and guests included Col. W. T. Burtt, in charge of reserves in the First Corps Area; Lt. Col. L. M. Rohde, Maj. R. F. Maddux, chief of the First Procurement District; Maj. P. A. Racicot, commandant of the Crossed Retoris School; Maj. P. C. Charron of Worcester; Capt. H. R. Lebkicher, First Corps Area chemical officer, and Maj. Carl C. Popp of Hartford, Conn., who will probably command the 305th Regiment.

Dr. Henry H. Reeder and Mrs. Reeder were hosts April 14 to the officer personnel of the Jeffersonville quartermaster depot and their ladies, the occasion being the monthly meeting of the officers' bridge club. Those pres-

With the Services in the Nation's Capital

THE past week has seen a number of quiet social events, many being participated in by the large number of delegates to the D. A. R. Convention being held here. There also have been some interesting weddings of service people.

Miss Eleanor Victoria Stokes, who has been spending the Easter holidays with her uncle and aunt, Dr. and Mrs. Malaby, of New York, returned to Washington by plane accompanied by Miss Ann C. Begg.

The Hunt Ball, to be held on the evening of the opening day of the National Capital Horse Show, May 13, is to be one of the most brilliant affairs of the Spring season. The ball is to be given at the Mayflower. The Chief of Staff, Gen. Douglas MacArthur, heads the list of those on the General Committee in charge of the affair. The list also includes Rear Adm. Cary T. Grayson, Maj. Gen. G. O. Squier, Brig. Gen. W. E. Horton, Col. Robert Patterson, Col. C. B. Hodges, Col. H. N. Coates, Maj. G. L. Patten.

Mrs. Patrick J. Hurley, wife of the Secretary of War, received the delegation from Oklahoma to the 40th N. S. D. A. R. Convention at her home on the afternoon of April 23.

Mrs. Truesdell, wife of Maj. Karl Truesdell, entertained a company at luncheon April 22 at the Shoreham Hotel, the party later playing bridge. The guests included Mrs. Hugh A. Drum, Mrs. George Gibbs, Mrs. Ezra Fuller, Mrs. Michael McNamee, Mrs. Charles Humphries, Mrs. Edwin Hickman, Mrs. George Kumpe, Mrs. Julian Bernheim, Miss Shug Reaume, Mrs. Irving Phillipson and her sister, Mrs. Spencer; Mrs. Russell Alley, Mrs. Charles H. White, Mrs. Minor Felch, Mrs. Adams Ballard and Mrs. James G. Bogman.

The Secretary of War and Mrs. Patrick J. Hurley were the guests of honor at a large dinner given by Maj. Gen. and Mrs. George Van Horne Moseley at the Shoreham Hotel, April 22.

Comdr. and Mrs. A. M. Charlton entertained at dinner at the Shoreham Hotel last Saturday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Phillipi of Rio de Janeiro.

The next meeting of the Washington Post of the Army Ordnance Association will be held at the Army-Navy Country Club, April 28, in honor of the S. A. E. Ordnance Advisory Committee, on the occasion of the meeting of this committee at the Ordnance Office and Ft. Eustis, Va.

Mrs. C. L. Hussey, wife of Rear Adm. Hussey, USN, who has been stationed in London for the last three years, gave a luncheon at the Wardman Park Hotel April 21.

Weddings and Engagements

IN a setting of exquisite beauty, the wedding of Miss Mary Berkeley Reed, daughter of Col. Walter Lawrence Reed, Inf., USA, and Lt. Charles Harold Royce, USA, was solemnized at Trinity Episcopal Church in Columbus, Ga., Apr. 22. The Rev. S. Alston Wragg read the marriage service in the presence of a brilliant assemblage of Ft. Benning and Columbus society.

The ushers were Lts. D. G. Strickler, C. H. Coates, George Isaacs, Ralph Pulsifer, William S. Biddle, and George Lightcap, all of USA. The bridesmaids included Miss Barbara King, Mrs. W. S. P. Cox, of Asheville, N. C.; Mrs. Norman Caum, Miss Celeste Broach, Mrs. J. C. Cheesborough, of Asheville, and Mrs. William Breckinridge. Miss Landon Reed was her sister's maid of honor.

Following the ceremony, Col. and Mrs. Reed entertained at the Polo Hunt Club at Ft. Benning. In the receiving line were Col. and Mrs. Reed, Mrs. Blossom Reed, aunt of the bride; Lt. and Mrs. Royce and the members of the wedding party.

The bride is a member of a family distinguished throughout military circles. She is the granddaughter of the late Walter Reed, in whose honor Walter Reed Hospital was named. She has been a recognized leader among the social sets in Columbus and at Benning, where she was president of the Straight Eights debutante club.

Lt. Royce, the son of Mrs. James Royce, of Berkeley, Calif., was graduated from West Point in 1924, and for the past few years has been aid de camp to Gen. Campbell King. In the wedding Gen. King, Gen. Frank D. McCoy and Col. and Mrs. Harry Knight represented the bridegroom's family, who were unable to be present.

Lt. Royce and his bride left during the afternoon for a motor trip to New York and will sail from there on May 5 for their new station in Tientsin, China.

Mrs. Josephine L. Yerby announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Georgette Josephine Yerby, to Mr. Roger Griswold Perkins, Jr., of Cleveland, son of Dr. and Mrs. Roger G. Perkins.

Miss Yerby was presented to society last Winter at a tea at the Washington Barracks, Washington, D. C., where the Adjutant General of the Army and Mrs. Charles H. Bridges entertained for their nieces, Miss Juliann Yerby and Miss Georgette Yerby. Both the girls were in Providence, R. I., last Summer and came back to Washington late in the Fall for the season. Miss Georgette Yerby attended Holton Arms for five years and is talented in drawing.

Mr. and Mrs. John Howard Klingstine have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Alice Klingstine, and Midshipman Lowell Winfield Williams, USNA, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ward Z. Williams, of Huntington, Ind. Midshipman Williams is a member of this year's graduating class. The wedding will take place June 4 at the Naval Academy chapel.

Col. and Mrs. Frederick A. Dale announce the engagement of their daughter, Audrey, to Mr. Casey Robinson.

MARE ISLAND, CALIF.

April 18, 1931

A DELIGHTFUL event of the week was the Ladies' Day Luncheon at the Officers' Club, when a number of officers' wives gathered for golf and bridge, following luncheon. Mrs. B. Saunders Bullard was the club hostess for the affair.

Capt. and Mrs. Leonard Cox were recent hosts at dinner at their home, when they had as their guests Lt. Col. Arthur Racicot, USMC, and Mrs. Racicot, Comdr. and Mrs. H. A. Orr, Lt. Comdr. and Mrs. Lewis Moeller, Mrs. Henry J. Widenman, Mrs. A. Geering, Miss Catherine Cox and C. D. Green of Chicago, who is a house guest of Capt. and Mrs. Cox.

Mrs. Charles Lees Brand entertained April 15 at a charming bridge luncheon at her home, Quarters E, at a farewell courtesy to Mrs. George Shepard, who, with Capt. Shepard, expects to leave for duty in San Pedro late in the month. Roses and forget-me-nots formed centerpieces at the two luncheon tables. Mrs. Brand was hostess to her house guest, Miss Lydia Beatty of Beverly, N. J.

Lt. and Mrs. David Beth have left Mare Island for New York, where Lt. Roth will be stationed at the Navy Yard. Dr. and Mrs. Ream Leachman entertained at a large dinner and bridge party at their home, April 18, complimenting Capt. and Mrs. George Shepard.

Comdr. and Mrs. Robert Irvine of Quarters L, were hosts at dinner, April 16. Covers were laid for 12 at the attractively appointed table.

Invitations have been issued by the Officers' Club for a tea dance in honor of Senator Albert R. Robinson and family and Honorable Bird J. Vincent, who are passengers on the USS Henderson, now at Mare Island. The affair will be given at the Officers' Club, Monday, April 20.

FT. SILL, OKLA.

April 18, 1931

LAST Sunday a most enjoyable hunt breakfast was given at the Officers' Club following the last hunt of the season. Maj. J. J. Waterman, president of the hunt, thanked the master of the hunt, the Artillery Hunt at Ft. Sill, and Maj. George M. Peck, the master, responded. There were 124 guests present.

Capt. and Mrs. L. L. Boggs entertained with a supper last Sunday evening, having as their guests Maj. and Mrs. C. B. McCormick, Capt. and Mrs. Norris B. Walsh, Capt. and Mrs. O. N. Schjerve, Capt. and Mrs. Frank E. Shaw, and Capt. and Mrs. M. W. Pettigrew.

Miss Cary Walker, who is the guest of Lt. and Mrs. E. L. Sibert, was the honor guest at a supper party given by Lt. and Mrs. E. Parmy, III, Sunday evening.

Capt. and Mrs. David C. Kelly and sons, David, Jr., and Bobby spent last weekend in Greenville, Tex., as the guests of Mrs. Kelly's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Mulkey.

Tuesday afternoon the Officers' Club was the scene of a lovely tea dance given by Lt. and Mrs. E. L. Sibert in compliment to their house guest, Miss Cary Walker.

Lt. and Mrs. Frank M. Steadman have moved to Quarters No. 60-AB, Post Field Area, telephone 342.

Mrs. David C. Kelly and Mrs. Carl A. Baehr took Mrs. W. T. Knight, Mrs. Reiff H. Hannum and Mrs. Milton O. Beebe to Oklahoma City, Wednesday, for luncheon and the movies.

Mrs. Stanley Bacon is spending two weeks with her mother, Mrs. Lawis Maverick, in San Antonio, Tex.

Mrs. Kinzie B. Edmunds entertained with a most attractive luncheon, Thursday.

signed to 22nd Inf., Ft. McPherson, Ga., proceed there for duty accordingly.

FT. SNELLING, MINN.

April 18, 1931

GOLD and yellow snapdragons made the effective centerpiece for the dinner party given by Col. and Mrs. Bernard Lentz last evening, preceding the circus party dance at Ft. Snelling. Col. and Mrs. Lentz's guests included Maj. and Mrs. Bert M. Lennon, Lt. and Mrs. William E. Moore, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Drew of Interlachen Park, Minneapolis.

On Wednesday evening, Col. and Mrs. Lentz were hosts to another charming group at a dinner at their quarters, followed by cards. The following guests were present: Col. and Mrs. David L. Stone, Col. and Mrs. Alden M. Graham, Mrs. C. O. Jenks, Col. and Mrs. Paul Doty, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Lilly, Mr. and Mrs. Horace C. Klein, all of St. Paul; and Mr. William Lindsay of Minneapolis.

Capt. and Mrs. Newton W. Speece were hosts at a dinner last evening, for Capt. and Mrs. Nels E. Stadig and Mr. and Mrs. James Lincoln of Minneapolis, and Mrs. Fred C. Thomas, wife of Lt. Thomas of Ft. Des Moines, who has been the house guest of Capt. and Mrs. Speece since Thursday.

The amusement room in the basement at the home of Capt. and Mrs. A. J. Russell, was transformed into a circus mess tent last evening for a dinner party preceding the circus dance at Ft. Snelling.

A dinner was given by Lt. and Mrs. Frank N. Leakey last evening, at their quarters, when covers were marked for Maj. and Mrs. Joseph H. Grant, Lt. T. G. Moscatelli, Miss Virginia Borreson, Miss Jean Gardner, and Mr. Louis Boucher, all of Minneapolis. The guests attended the dance at the fort.

One of the gayest parties given by the Officers' Club at Ft. Snelling for the year was the circus party given last evening at the Service Club, when all the guests came costumed as performers or spectators of the circus. The Service Club was converted into a "Big Top" with its many sideshows, peanut, popcorn, balloon, and souvenir vendors, and the main show with its wild animals, three ring performances and many entertainers. The din of noise made by the costumed barkers mingled with the many shouts and laughter of the guests, who were unique in the many costumes of a regular circus crowd. An attractive feature of the evening was a special dance number by 12 pupils of Miss Marie Rothfuss of St. Paul. Maj. and Mrs. Harry J. Keeley and Maj. and Mrs. Ralph E. Curtis were in charge of arrangements for the party.

Mrs. John H. Hester, wife of Maj. Hester, entertained informally at a delightful tea, complimenting her mother, Mrs. F. H. Richardson, who makes her home with the Hesters, and also complimenting Mrs. Charles C. Allen, mother of Mrs. L. B. Hessler of Minneapolis, on Tuesday evening.

Lt. and Mrs. Jesse T. Traywick will entertain on the evening of May 8 with a bridge supper, complimenting Lt. Orin D. Haugen and his fiancée, Miss Marion Sargent, of Lyndale Ave. S., Minneapolis.

JEFFERSON BARRACKS, MO.

April 20, 1931

COL. AND MRS. PEGRAM WHITWORTH entertained at a delightful tea at their quarters on Wednesday afternoon, in honor of their house guests, Mrs. LeRoy S. Upton and her son, Ralph Upton, of Anne Arbor, Mich. All of the officers and ladies of the post and a number of St. Louisians were invited.

Mrs. Charles F. Morse and Mrs. Raymond I. Lovell were joint hostesses at a bridge luncheon at the Red Cross House on Tuesday afternoon, having as their guests all of the ladies of the post and a number of friends from St. Louis.

Maj. and Mrs. Thomas L. Smith have as their house guests, Mrs. Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Rainey of Glendale, Calif.

Ten names of those winning prizes for high scores for the year's meetings of the Post Bridge Club, have been announced. They are Mrs. Charles F. Morse, Capt. Raymond I. Lovell, and Maj. Arthur C. Tipton.

Mrs. Arthur R. Underwood and her house guests, Mrs. Charles Carey and Miss Elizabeth Carey of Cheyenne, Wyo., departed Monday on a week's motor trip through the southern States, with New Orleans as their ultimate destination.

Mr. Oliver A. Sandusky arrived on the post recently to join Mrs. Sandusky, who has been visiting her son and daughter-in-law, Capt. and Mrs. Richard M. Sandusky. They have since departed for their home in St. Joseph, Mo.

Capt. Richard M. Sandusky, regimental and post adjutant, has received orders from the War Department detailing him as a student at the Command and General Staff School, Ft. Leavenworth, Kans., where he will report between Aug. 20 and Aug. 29.

Lt. and Mrs. Claude D. Collins had as their guest for several days Miss Lorraine Richardson, of Berkeley, Calif. On Monday evening they complimented their guest at an informal dinner at their quarters, followed by the theater. Covers were laid for Miss Richardson, Mrs. George H. Bates, Capt. Harold Haney, and Lt. John D. Cone.

ON THE RANGES

FOR many years requests have kept coming to the Colt Company in Hartford, Conn., asking if they had any intention of producing a Caliber .22 Automatic Pistol on exactly the same frame as their famous Caliber .45 Government Model. So insistent became these inquiries that finally the Colt Company decided that they would put the proposition directly up to the shooters themselves and accordingly ran a full page advertisement in one of the leading shooting magazines, asking the readers to let them know if they would be interested in such a pistol.

Over a thousand letters were received, enthusiastically asking that the new arm be placed on the market immediately and many placed their orders for a gun then and there.

According to the Colt Company nearly 2,000 of these arms are now on order, without even so much as a sample having been seen by anyone.

The new arm is to be known as the Colt Ace and is designed to be a companion arm for the Caliber .45 Automatic Pistol as well as the new Super .38 Automatic Pistol. It will appeal especially to service men, members of the National Guard, Reserve Officers, as well as individual shooters of the heavier caliber models with its economical .22 Long Rifle ammunition offering almost unlimited target practice at exceedingly small cost.

The Ace is to be fitted with a unique rear sight, especially designed for this model. This new sight is adjustable for both elevation and windage and in the tests that have been run at the Colt factory it has proven exceedingly accurate. The action of the arm is to be hand finished to insure smoothness of operation, a feature found in all of the higher priced Colt target arms. In addition a special super-precision barrel is being fitted to the Ace.

The Ace will be a target arm in every sense of the word, with identically the same grip, feel and operation as the Caliber .45 Automatic.

Its magazine will hold ten cartridges and will be easily and quickly ejected through simply pressing on the magazine catch, as in the Government and Super .38 models. The trigger will be checked and in addition the arched housing will be carefully checked in order to assist in making possible a firmer, surer grip and trigger pull.

Interest among service men has been keen ever since the Colt Company first mentioned this new arm and a large proportion of the orders which have been received have come from men in active service. The economy effected through using the economical .22 Long Rifle cartridge especially appeals to them and makes it possible for the service man to greatly improve his marksmanship with an arm that is identical in design, construction, feel and operation as his high calibered service weapon.

The Colt Company will be glad to hear from any service men who are interested in the Ace.

All donations will be appreciated and should be sent to the store during that week.

Starring of Officers

HAD the proposed War Department accelerated promotion bill gone into effect as of July 1, 1930, a total of 1,576 first lieutenants, down to and including Lt. George W. Read, jr., Cav. (No. 7246 on the promotion list of that date), would have been promoted to be captains. Lt. Read would, on that date, have been the last first lieutenant to have completed ten years' commissioned service.

Therefore, in computing the starring of the officers under the terms of the proposed measure, the War Department extended the range of the captains relative age groups down to include Lt. Read and all those above him who would have been captains on July 1, 1930.

The starring of those first lieutenants who would have been promoted if the bill had gone into effect as of July 1, 1930, follows (promotion list numbers are from the list of July 1, 1930): (The list of colonels, lieutenant colonels and majors was published in the Army and Navy Journal of April 18, 1931, while the list of captains was published in the Journal of April 11, 1931.)
